Washington (AP)—The Senate underscored its virtual demand that President Truman use the Taft-Hartley Law in the nation-wide steel strike yesterday, and bluntly indicated that the next move is up to the White House.

By a rollcall vote of 54 to 26, the Senate batted down another in a series of amendments designed to give Truman the emergency seizure powers he requested.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Morse (R-Ore.), was the fourth seizure plan rejected by the chamber in less than 24 hours.

House Group Votes To Kill Credit Curbs

Washington (AP)—The House Banking Committee voted yesterday to kill all controls on consumer and real estate credit June 30.

At the same time the committee agreed on a full year's extension of wage, price and rent control powers.

It also wrote a rule that price supports for six basic farm commodities—corn, wheat, cotton, peanuts, tobacco and rice—shall not be less than 90 per cent of parity, and refused to restore power for the administration to apply livestock slaughtering quotas.

Parity is a legal formula for determining a price level declared to be fair to farmers in relation to the prices of things they buy. The supports now are on a sliding scale of 75 to 90 per cent.

The committee adopted those provisions as it worked its way through a bill to extend the Defense Production Act. That basic economic controls law expires at the end of this month.

The committee, hoping to finish its job today, stayed away from the steel crisis measures which have embroiled the Senate as that body worked toward final passage of its own version of Defense Production Act extension.

Except for the slaughtering quotas ban, all the sections approved by the House group were different from the corresponding parts of the Senate's bill.

The Senate measure provides for extension of credit control authority to next March 1. It fixes the same date, four months short of the one chosen by the House committee, for an end to wage-price controls. And it lacks any provision for the fixed farm price supports.

The Banking Committee refused to remove two provisions of the price control law which the Truman administration criticized as restrictive. The Capehart and Herlong amendments, written into the law last year, were retained.

Realtor Finds Bathtub In Use In Vacant House

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP)—When a real estate agent went to show a prospective buyer a vacant house, he found it partially occupied. There was a man in the bathtub.

The latter, John Cruickshank, 59, was given 15 days in jail yesterday on a drunk charge.

Solons Propose Bipartisan Group On Foreign Policy

Washington (AP)—Legislation establishing a 12-member bipartisan commission to chart future American foreign policy was approved unanimously yesterday by a House foreign affairs sub-committee.

The commission would submit a blueprint for future foreign policy directly to Congress. The legislators would determine what to do with it.

The President would appoint two commission members from the government and two private citizens. The President of the Senate and speaker of the House each would appoint two congressmen and two laymen. They would be from both parties.

Rep. Battle (D-Ala.), a sponsor, said this would mark the first effort to enlist the best brains from private life in moulding a foreign program.

Immigration Bill Sent To White House

Washington (AP)—Congress completed action yesterday on a controversial new code of laws governing immigration and naturalization.

The bulky bill has been attacked as the equivalent of an Iron Curtain around the United States, and defended as a measure necessary to maintain the American way of life.

The Senate passed it by a voice vote yesterday and sent it to the White House, where opponents hope it will be vetoed by President Truman.

Although the bill would lower racial barriers to admit certain Orientals now excluded from this country, and would eliminate sex discriminations, it also tightens the security screen for aliens and would give preference to aliens with skills needed in the United States.

It would retain the national origin system of immigration quotas, based mainly on the makeup of the American population in 1920. A total of 154,658 immigrants could be admitted annually. This is 380 more than is permitted in the tangle of existing laws.

Red Buildup Not Evident

Berlin (AP)—Russia is waving the big stick at Europe without a buildup of her armed forces on the Elbe River line that would portend war this year, Western officials said last night.

No reinforcements have appeared in East Germany for Gen. Vasily Chuikov's command, which Western experts put at 30 divisions approximately 200,000 troops. Immediately behind these men are only two to four divisions on lines of communication through Poland.

Chuikov has a super-modern air arm of jet fighters and light bombers. But they are reported slightly less in numbers than the 550 jets he had in 1951. Some were withdrawn to be fitted with more powerful engines. Others may have been transferred to the North Korean front.

Allied intelligence analyzes the absence of new Russian formations during summer maneuvers on the East German springboard as evidence that Moscow is at present aiming at goals more limited than the lightning conquest of this continent.

The Western forecast, however, is for bitter developments in Russia's struggle to wipe out free Berlin as "show window of the West" and to frighten West Germany from rearming in the European Defense Community.

Churchill said that, thanks to unpopular economic measures adopted by his government in the past six months, "our head is now above water."

"But it is not enough to float," he added. "We have to swim and we have to swim successfully and we have to swim against the stream."

During the first quarter of 1952, Britain and her sterling bloc partners spent 635 million dollars more than they earned abroad. Their gold-dollar reserves dropped to $1,700,000,000. The next report on these reserves is expected in July.

Communies Renew Atrocity Charge

Munsan, Korea (AP)—Communist truce delegates renewed yesterday their charges of Allied "slaughter" of Red prisoners, and the Allies hinted they would walk out of the sessions again.

The three-day Allied-imposed recess which ended with yesterday's meeting apparently did little to keep the Reds from using the Panmunjon talks as propaganda sounding boards.

However, at Communist insistence, the Allies said they would show up at 11 a.m.

Neutrals Proposed
Washington (AP)—President Truman suggested yesterday that military men from five neutral nations be invited to visit Korea and observe United Nations treatment of Communist prisoners of war.

Police Lift Roadblocks But Continue Search For Slayers

Compound 95 Cleared With No Resistance

Koje Island, Korea (AP)—American infantrymen today cleared 4,800 North Korean prisoners of war from a fourth Kojoe Island stockade and began a search for possible new victims of Communist diehards.

The transfer was made without resistance—although a prison leader sought to delay the move.

The battered bodies of 15 anti-Red prisoners, slain by their comrades, were uncovered yesterday following a similar transfer.

The first group of 150 prisoners—holding hands on orders—moved out of Compound 95 today without a sign of resistance.

"Keep your bayonets down," Brig. Gen. Haydon L. (Bull) Boatner ordered his men. "Don't stick them in their buttocks."

The move was made a few minutes behind schedule following a 10-minute parley in front of the compound gate between Boatner and a prisoner leader.

Boatner told the Red leader that if his orders were obeyed, no one would be hurt.

The Kojoe commander rejected the prisoner leader's request for a one hour delay.

The captives were not split up immediately into new 500-man compounds. Instead, they were transferred temporarily into old enclosure 91.

This will permit engineers to use some of the area occupied by Compound 95 for a nearly completed new enclosure, Boatner said.

The Reds apparently got word of the transfer by the prisoner "grapevine." They burned records and documents last night. Then, at 1 a. m., they feasted on their stored rations.

Boatner granted the compound leader's request that the POWs be permitted to keep their personal belongings.

Federal Road Aid Measure Wins Passage

Washington (AP)—A bill authorizing the federal government to invest $1,386,650,000 in national and international highways was passed by Congress yesterday.

The Senate passed the bill and sent it to President Truman a few hours after the House had acted.

A $1,386,650,000 program for highways in the United States was approved for the two years beginning July 1, 1953.

In addition, the bill okayed four million dollars for aid in construction of the Rama Road in Nicaragua over the two years beginning July 1, 1952, and 16 million for the Inter-American Highway in Central America during the next two fiscal years.

The road-building measure, approved by voice vote, is a compromise of bills passed previously by the House and Senate.

It makes no change in the present formula under which states must match some of the funds put up by the federal government for planning and construction.

Congress authorized its road programs two years in advance of actual appropriations to give some states time to determine how much of the available funds they can match. Usually, not all the authorization is covered in subsequent appropriations.

Fine Seeking To Control Convention, Says Paper Holds Threat Of Patronage

Harrisburg (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine was ready yesterday to use all the power of his administration against a premature stampede to swing the bulk of Pennsylvania's Republican National Convention delegation behind any presidential candidate.

The Governor is chairman of the 70-vote group which is the largest uncommitted block of convention delegates. To date he has successfully discouraged anything that might be read as a show of strength within the delegation.

He intends to continue to do that until his own decision is made. At that point, Fine believes he will be able to line up some 50 or more votes in support of either Sen. Robert A. Taft or Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, or perhaps—and this may be no more than a distant possibility—Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

However, Fine himself remains steadfastly uncommitted, undecided when he will make up his mind, and apparently unimpressed by all the maneuvering going on for his support.

When he does decide, he insists, his choice will be made on issues and not on candidates. In an interview with the Associated Press the Governor emphasized that he views the "tremendous expenditures" of the federal government as the most vital issue of the day.

Fine, like many another Republican leader, wants to see his delegation become the turning point of the nominating convention.

And both Taft and Eisenhower backers are willing to agree he is now in a powerful strategic position. There is substantial sentiment within the delegation now for each candidate. The most recent Associated Press poll shows 20 delegates favoring Eisenhower, 18 backing Taft, and 32 undecided.

He expressed doubt the Russians would start a war unless they were convinced of a quick victory.

They would have to wipe out the sources of resistance, he said, and then build machinery to withstand a long war of attrition.

The Russian leaders like their jobs, he added, and he said he thought they would not risk losing them unless, or until, they were confident of winning.

The United States, on the other hand, must begin finding the means of reducing the national budget, Eisenhower said.

The witness quoted him as saying he was not thinking of a reduction of 10 billion dollars but of 40 billion.

Otherwise, he said, the government is running a risk of throttling the country's economic life.

Eisenhower Sees End Of War Fear

New York (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported saying yesterday, that given certain conditions, there is a possibility of removing the fear of war within two or three years.

Eisenhower discussed the prospect with New York Republican delegates at a closed meeting yesterday.

One of those present said the general told the delegates that the buildup of economic and military strength in the free nations, plus a feeling of confidence in themselves, would create a condition in which peace could be preserved.

The Soviet Union, Eisenhower was quoted as saying, is deliberately fostering fear and anxiety.

But, he continued, if the Western nations can counteract the fear psychosis, sufficient progress would be made within two or three years to lift the burden of war.

The buildup, he said, would stop Communist infiltration as well.

He expressed doubt the Russians would start a war unless they were convinced of a quick victory.

They would have to wipe out the sources of resistance, he said, and then build machinery to withstand a long war of attrition.

The Russian leaders like their jobs, he added, and he said he thought they would not risk losing them unless, or until, they were confident of winning.

Hopes To Unite 3 Delegations

Baltimore (AP)—The Baltimore Sun last night reported that Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania has proposed uniting the Maryland, Pennsylvania and Michigan delegations into a bloc "powerful enough to control the Republican presidential nomination." Fine denied the report however.

Fine so far is uncommitted in the race between the two major candidates for the Republican nomination, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin confirmed yesterday in New York that he has been extended to him on the proposal, according to the Sun story which appeared on Page 1 under the byline of Thomas O'Neill.

McKeldin controls most of Maryland's 24 convention votes. The delegation is committed to vote for their governor on the first ballot as a "favorite son" candidate. McKeldin says at least 18 of them will follow his lead after the first ballot.

He has not backed in public any candidate, but has dropped plenty of hints that Eisenhower would not be a disagreeable choice.

McKeldin met in New York today with the general who entertained 20 of the Maryland delegates.

The Sun story said Fine wants to work out a meeting for himself, McKeldin and Arthur Summerfield, Republican national committeeman from Michigan.

O'Neill wrote that the meeting is "in prospect sometime next week after Gov. McKeldin returns from a speaking engagement Monday in Seattle, Wash."

The Sun story said McKeldin was approached on the matter "by an intermediary representing Gov. Fine."

House Votes To End HST's Rail Seizure Powers

Washington (AP)—The House yesterday voted to end, President Truman's authority to seize the nation's railroads, but passed a bill extending 48 other emergency war powers vested in the White House.

The vote was 284 to 69. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Besides knocking out the President's rail seizure power, the House rejected President Truman's bid for renewal of 11 other powers. These included authority:

One—To provide absentee voting for members of the armed services in national elections.

Two—To recall to active duty without their consent young men, now in reserve status, who were drafted or enlisted in the armed services between June 24, 1948, and June 15, 1951.

Weak from loss of blood, he collapsed on the way, managed to park the car, drag himself out on the road and signal for help from a passing motorist.

Meanwhile, authorities were told, Roberts was struggling to save his wife. After being brutally mauled he was shot in the shoulder. The bullet traveled a downward path and lodged somewhere near the intestines.

The hitchhikers then took Roberts' wallet and his wife's purse, threw the car keys in the bushes and vanished into the woods.

Roberts struggled back into the car where his wife—unknown to him—lay dead, got out a spare set of emergency keys and began the tortuous drive toward a hospital to get aid for his wife.

The Weather

Mostly sunny and cool again today. Friday fair, warmer and becoming more humid.

Dense Woods Combed For Hitchhikers

Bear Creek—Two killers who murdered an Edwardsville woman and shot her husband here Tuesday night were still being sought by police in this region late last night.

The two, who fled into the woods after the slaying on an isolated road here, are the objects of one of the biggest manhunts in this region's history.

The victims: Mrs. Mary Roberts, 43, of 30 Church St., Edwardsville, who was killed with two bullets in the left side of the head; and her husband, Jonah, 46, a dress factory employee who is in fair condition at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital with a bullet wound of the left shoulder and multiple injuries of the face and body suffered in a beating by one of the hitchhikers.

Wyoming State police said they believe the hitchhike slayers have not left the area and may be in hiding somewhere in the dense woods.

Roadblocks were thrown up by State police in a wide area with Bear Creek as the central point. State police from the Mount Pocono and Broadheadsville substations in Monroe County were included.

Monroe County troopers lifted their roadblocks yesterday but continued wide-ranging patrols.

Three suspects were picked up yesterday morning—one a hitchhiker encountered by Stroudsburg State police. Close questioning failed to establish any link with the killing and the suspects were released.

Wyoming police and Luzerne County detectives have run down scores of leads but so far have not hit pay dirt, they said.

Late last night the Wyoming barracks said no suspects were being held.

Main highways throughout northeastern Pennsylvania are under close scrutiny and all railroad and bus terminals were checked to determine if the slayers escaped from the area during the night.

Roberts has not been informed of his wife's death. Hospital authorities reported he called for her during the night, apparently under the impression that her wounds were no more critical than his own.

The two men being sought were described as about 25 years old, "collegiate looking," five feet eight inches tall, batless, and with dark complexions. They carried nickel plated revolvers.

One wore a dark gray coat, light gray trousers, and carried a brown zippered bag. The other wore a gray suit.

One, police were told, had a "New York" accent.

The Roberts, married for more than 20 years, had gone driving Tuesday about 7 p.m., according to the story pieced together by detectives from Roberts' account.

After stopping for ice cream in Wyoming, they drove to Scranton, then started the return trip. In front of Laurel Line station they saw the two young hitchhikers, stopped and gave them a lift.

In Dupont, however, one hitchhiker pulled a gun, pushed Roberts into the middle of the front seat and took the wheel himself.

The other man remained in the back seat alone.

At this point Roberts' story is hazy. He told questioners that near Bear Creek the man in the back seat tried to force Mrs. Roberts to have unnatural relations with him.

The car was stopped on a lonely road off Route 115, and Roberts was hauled from the car. The back seat rider then attempted to force Mrs. Roberts to submit to him. When she refused she was shot twice in the head.

Meanwhile, authorities were told, Roberts was struggling to save his wife. After being brutally mauled he was shot in the shoulder. The bullet traveled a downward path and lodged somewhere near the intestines.

The hitchhikers then took Roberts' wallet and his wife's purse, threw the car keys in the bushes and vanished into the woods.

Roberts struggled back into the car where his wife—unknown to him—lay dead, got out a spare set of emergency keys and began the tortuous drive toward a hospital to get aid for his wife.

Ike To Meet With State GOP Delegates

Harrisburg (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine said yesterday he and other top Republicans would greet Dwight D. Eisenhower personally in advance of a meeting between the retired general and Pennsylvania's 70-man Republican delegation at Gettysburg Friday.

Arrangements are "progressing speedily" for the picnic and informal get-together at the Eisenhower farm on the outskirts of the historic Civil War battlefield, Fine said.

Fine said Eisenhower will be met at Harrisburg State Airport at 9:50 a.m. Friday by himself, Sen. James H. Duff, one of Ike's leading backers for the Republican nomination; Sen. Edward Martin, State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman and Edwin F. Russell, state chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower.

The governor spent much of the day with Russell, other key representatives and Col. C. M. Wilhelm, State police commissioner, in working out the physical arrangements for the reception.

Buses, with State police escort, will take Eisenhower and his party on the 36-mile trip to Gettysburg.

Under the arrangements, Eisenhower will talk with the delegates and alternates at his farm. He will leave from Harrisburg for Detroit at 9:30 p.m.

The governor's office issued this statement:

Delegates, alternates, and out-of-state press will meet at the Gettysburg Hotel in Gettysburg. Parking places have been provided.

"Buses will take delegates, alternates, and out-of-state press from the Gettysburg Hotel to the farm and after the meeting back to Gettysburg.

Delegates, alternates, the press, and special guests are required to identify themselves.

Survey Puts Emphasis On Mental Health

Washington (AP) — A study group sized up the American doctor yesterday and said he knows a lot about disease but too little about people and what makes them chronically ill.

The purpose of the study, by the American Psychiatric Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges, was to assess the importance of giving medical students more information on mental diseases.

The report said the mode of life is changing so rapidly in America it is placing more and more strain on people. Many people respond to strain by suffering a break in their health, the report added.

And so it suggested the education of doctors be widened to include more studies about people, how they live and the factors that bring them tension or unhappiness.

Mechanical pickers, planters and cultivators are more commonly used in Western states of the United States in the raising of cotton than is the case in the Southeast.

Senator Martin Lashes Out At Confusion, Corruption, Communism In Shawnee Speech

The second annual Republican June Day banquet last night drew 265 Republican men and women from Monroe and neighboring counties to Shawnee Inn to hear U. S. Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, and to see the coronation of David Gerrity and Kathleen Yost as the teen-age "Mr. and Miss Republican of 1952."

Sponsored by the Monroe Council of Republican Women, the guests were welcomed by Mrs. J. Russell Custard, president, with State Sen. M. F. Crowe as toastmaster. The invocation was given by Judge Fred W. Davis.

Senator Martin in his address lashed out at "confusion, corruption and Communism."

"One of the vital issues of the 1952 campaign," he said, "is the issue of honesty against dishonesty," citing the bribery of public officials, influence peddlers with free access to the White House, and the income tax scandals, and laying the responsibility on the Democratic administration.

"The failure of the President to take drastic action to drive the crooks out of public office, was one of the most disgraceful affairs in American history," he said.

More alarming than the issue of corruption, he continued, is "the extreme danger to which the American form of government is exposed by the constant increasing concentration of power and authority in Washington," with the resulting "taxation."

Owens Death Mystifies Authorities

An autopsy yesterday failed to establish the cause of death of Shirley Owens, 21, East Stroudsburg native who was found dead Tuesday at St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, where she was a student nurse.

Deputy Coroner Russell E. Morgan, a member of the hospital staff, said specimens taken at the autopsy were being sent to the State Police laboratory at Harrisburg for toxicological examination.

A report on the findings is expected shortly, Dr. Morgan said.

The case is being investigated by Bethlehem State police. The "routine" autopsy was ordered by Capt. Charles Cook, commander of the Bethlehem barracks, according to Dr. Morgan's assistant, who read a prepared statement.

The post mortem was performed by Dr. Thomas Cope at the hospital.

Pfc. Leonard Picton, investigator from the Bethlehem barracks, said authorities were satisfied no "foul play" was involved.

Miss Owens, a senior student nurse and daughter of Earl and the late Grace Dimmick Owens, 137 Maple Ave., East Stroudsburg, was found dead in bed in her room at 7 p.m.

A night duty nurse, she had gone to sleep about noon the same day, authorities said.

A classmate, Caroline E. Miller, of East Bangor, looked into the room about 5 p.m. but thought Miss Owens was asleep and went away without disturbing her, authorities said.

After Miss Owens failed to appear at supper, Nurse Miller went to the room and this time discovered the death.

Coroner Clayton Weirley said death had occurred some hours before 7 p.m.

Miss Owens was a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School in 1949, had played in the band for four years. During two of those years the band won state championships.

After graduation she entered St. Luke's and won honors in her first year of training. At the time of her death she was editor of the hospital news, The Lukesight.

Miss Owens would have been capped June 28 after completion of three years' training—about two weeks from the time of her funeral.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg, with Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiating, and burial at Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home between 7 and 9 p.m. Friday.

Surviving are her father; step-mother, Mrs. Ruth Owens; paternal grandfather, Arthur C. Owens, East Stroudsburg; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dimmick, Shawnee; and step-sister, Mrs. Patricia Karpelena, Bethlehem.

The Portland Fire Fund

The responsibility for providing adequate fire protection in any community rests with each and every citizen of that community. We have had some prime examples of this theory in Monroe County, but one of the best tests is now being conducted in the Portland region.

Not only Portland, Slatford and Mt. Bethel citizens are involved in fund raising to provide proper fire protection, but across the Delaware River their neighbors of Knowlton and Pahaquarry Townships are contributing.

As beneficiaries of the facilities of a modern $15,000 pumper engine in a region where little or no fire protection exists, depending in which portion of the territory one lives, no citizen can afford to miss making his or her most generous contribution.

A small group of men interested in protecting their own homes, as well as those of others, give their time, their skills and repeatedly risk life and limb, purely on a volunteer basis. These volunteer firemen deserve more than praise and good wishes. They must have adequate financial support to obtain the best possible fire fighting tools.

Borough of Portland has given $2,500 towards the pumper fund in addition to monies set aside by the fire company. Ladies of the fire company auxiliary had added another $1,000. Other gifts from citizens have swelled the pumper purchase monies close to $6,000.

The remaining $9,000 should be raised promptly. No individual whether a property owner or tenant, can afford to daily with this type of community responsibility.

Delaware is known as the "Diamond state" and also as the "First state" because it was the first to ratify the federal constitution.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—One of the most cogent questions in the Republican party problem book today is whether Senator William Knowland of California could legally run as both a senatorial and a vice presidential candidate.

Knowland's smashing 1,675,000-vote majority in the California primary placed him at the top of the vice presidential list. There are other factors making Knowland acceptable as a running mate for either Taft or Eisenhower, but his vote-getting qualities in California have focused the hot eyes of GOP politicians squarely on him. Governor Earl Warren's stock was greatly bolstered in 1950 when he beat Jimmy Roosevelt for the governorship by a majority of 1,127,000.

California politicians say that state laws do not cover the legality of a candidate having his name on the ballot both for Congress and vice president. They point out that the only politician to do it in recent history, and get away with it, was former Democratic Vice President John Nance Garner, the late President Roosevelt's two-term running-mate.

Garner was in the House of Representatives when he and Roosevelt first ran in 1932. No one apparently questioned the fact that Garner also was running for re-election to the House. But Texas, with its one-party system, is somewhat different from California. Knowland, however, captured both the Democratic and Republican senatorial nominations in California on June 3—something only one other Californian, the late Hiram Johnson, ever was able to do.

If California Republicans do need an interpretation of state laws in the event Knowland gets the GOP vice presidential nomination they are in trouble. The attorney general of California is a Democrat, Edmund (Pat) Brown. The decision would be in his hands.

Brown was the only Democrat elected to a major office in California in 1950. Since then his popularity has dwindled. He was thoroughly trounced last week as head of a state of anti-Katzenbach delegates to the Democratic convention in July. Brown blames some of his losing on the fact that he was, for party reasons, forced to align himself closely with President Truman. Since Korea the President has been persona non grata on the west coast.

The decision about Knowland's eligibility as a vice presidential candidate, nevertheless, remains in Brown's hands, and it would be a political miracle if he avoided an adverse decision, assuming there was a question of interpretation. It can be said with reasonable assurance that if such a law exists, Brown will find it.

A Knowland candidacy is appealing to Eisenhower Republicans. The general gained many west coast followers when, in his first press conference, he praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur and indicated that he would certainly find a place for MacArthur if elected to the presidency.

Knowland is a supporter of MacArthur. Knowland also, in a vigorous campaign for the senatorial nomination, attacked Truman's foreign policy, particularly as it pertains to the Far East.

Eisenhower admits that he knows little about Far Eastern affairs. Knowland knows a great deal, and the tag, "Senator From Formosa," hung on him by Left-Wing Democrats, may boomerang on his critics. The GOP, in the event of Eisenhower's nomination, will be happy to have a Far Eastern expert on the ticket.

In lesser degree, the same applies to Taft. He has, in general, let Knowland handle Asia in the Senate while he concentrated on Europe. He also is close to MacArthur.

Geographically a Knowland candidacy would be advisable. Both Taft and Eisenhower claim midwest birthplaces, although in the case of the general he is politically aligned with the east coast. A far western running mate would make good political sense for either of the two leading contenders.

Knowland is young (44), aggressive and smart. Warren, for practical political purposes, is through in his home state. He is eager for a spot on the Supreme Court bench or at least the attorney generalship. To get such a Federal post in event of a GOP victory in November, Warren may have to support Knowland for the job he, Warren, lost as Dewey's running mate in 1948.

Spreading Freedom

Americans believe their institutions are the best for themselves, and would be the best for others. But we have not been very successful in selling that idea to the rest of the world.

In the case of a free and impartial press, we sometimes forget that many foreigners cannot appreciate it simply because they never have seen one.

This week the first American daily newspaper, with an American editor, starts publishing in Beirut, to circulate in Lebanon and several other Middle Eastern countries. English is spoken widely among educated Middle Easterners and the publishers are aiming their paper primarily, at them, and only secondarily to the Americans who live or work in the area.

Except for Northern Europe and a few other parts of the world, newspapers tend to be organs of political parties or other special interests and rarely print straight news as we know it.

Even in Latin America, the death of La Presna and other suppressions have widened the area of darkness and discouraged the nations which still have a free press.

Papers like the new "Daily Star" in Beirut probably never will have large circulations, but their success will encourage the development of free and impartial newspapers by the peoples of other countries, in their own languages. We wish them well.

The Foreign Atmosphere

Whenever I come among foreigners, particularly such as represent their countries in the United States or at the United Nations, I cannot help wondering if they know anything at all about this country and the American people or whether they even care.

In the first place, most of them congregate in New York and Washington where they only read the comparatively small circulation newspapers that please them. They read the columnists who have a great reputation as friends of Europe but whose impress in America is limited to the internationalist coteries. One would imagine that these foreign representatives would realize that as long as they are dependent upon our subsidies, they ought to know what Main Street thinks.

These people talk to each other a great deal, but they rarely talk to those Americans whose influence lapped a billion dollars and more off the foreign aid bill. When they believe, as they really do, that if we stopped subsidizing Europe and Asia, we should go into a deep depression, one can only remind them that that is what Stalin and Henry Wallace and even Harry Truman thought would happen in 1946 and it has not happened yet.

They explain this phenomenon—and they all talk alike—by saying that we stayed out of a depression by making the Korean War and by the Marshall Plan, ECA, and NATO. What knocks me over every time I get into one of these discussions is that these people honestly believe that we got into the Korean War to keep out of a depression and that the Europeans actually are doing us a great favor by letting us give them aid to defend their countries, as otherwise we should decay into a hopeless bankruptcy. The Marshall Plan, from their standpoint, was not American aid to Europe; it was European aid to America.

If you think that I am making all this up, get into an argument with these gentlemen and their ladies. It will not take you long to discover that nobody is grateful for what we have done for $50,000,000,000 of Lend-Lease during World War II or about $30,000,000,000 since. We did all that to keep out of a depression and they took the money to help us stay out of depression and war.

I am a very mild-mannered person, but when I am told to my face, as often happens, that if we stop giving our money, the entire world will unite against us, I am tempted to say, unite and be damned, because there is something impudent and intolerable in the attitude of these people who accept our bounty without shame, yet hate us for it. And they seem to admit that there is an emotional response in Europe, against parvenu America that is so rich and powerful. It is like an old relative who has seen better days and who must make a nuisance of herself to prove that what is done for her is her due and not the goodness of young hearts.

I was recently told that the backward nations are not responsible for their backwardness, but rather that they should be aided to become forward nations by American money dispensed by the United Nations.

When I asked why, if the United States paid for all this progress, should we not do the job ourselves, pasting an American label on it, they answer that that is not humane. It is colonialism. It should all be sheer charity, with no return intended or expected. Point Four is like that, but, according to beneficiaries, it ought to be done entirely by the United Nations so that nobody will have to be grateful to anybody.

When I listen to Park Avenue ladies talking gushingly that way, I do not feel much pain. They are a dying race among us. But when I hear the men who are reporting America back to European nations talk that way, I realize that there is trouble in store for us when we have to tell these foreigners that we can give them no more subsidies, that it is none of our business to keep their politicians in power and that we despise their Socialism of whatever form.

It would do these people good if they traveled in this country and listened to what most Americans think of them and their gimmicks.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Sombody asked Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, onetime pitching star of the Yankees, and a natural wit, what he thought Ty Cobb would bat against the kind of flinging prevalent in the major leagues today. "Lefty" (also known as "El Goofo") pondered momentarily, then hazarded, "I'd ask about .320." "That low?" asked the interrogator in surprise. "Yep," grinned Gomez. "Ya gotta remember Cobb's now over sixty years old!"

Gomez claims the distinction of having had the longest home run in big league ball cracked off one of his deliveries. The man who smote the blow—over 450 yards on the fly—was Jimmy Foxx, and Gomez adds proudly, "I whizzed my fast one half past him at that. It was the last half that did the damage."

The cannibal chief yawned widely and patted his expansive belly in a bored manner. "Some days," he complained to his medicine man, "I get so fed up with people."

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Gene Barry has one word for an actor's first year in movies. The word is: "Awful!"

"You're a hidden nonentity," he explained the other day while awaiting public reaction to his first film "The Atomic City." "Your agent is familiar with you; so's your family. But so far as the public's concerned, nothing happens."

Paramount took quite a chance on this tall, ruggedly handsome emigre from Broadway. He drove out here on vacation last summer with his wife and young son. His agent arranged screen tests, which led to offers from several studios. He took Paramount's, with its lead in "The Atomic City." He plays a nuclear physicist at the Los Alamos Atomic laboratories. Critics have praised the film warmly.

The studio's gamble lay in the fact that Barry is a movie unknown. So are the picture's other principals—Lydia Clarke (actor Charlton Heston's wife), a Broadway actress here appearing in her first film, and 8-year-old Lee Aaker, from TV and a few other movie roles. All perform excellently in this kidnap thriller. And Barry comes off so well that Paramount promptly gave him another lead role—again, coincidentally, as a scientist—in "War of the Worlds."

Barry is tall, dark, and 32, with strong features. His easygoing seriousness is suggestive of Wendell Corey.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Letters For Special Delivery (Russia has billed the United States for $14,000,000 for phone service from Berlin to West Germany.)—News item)

Dear Joe: Well I just got your phone bill. I knew it cost more to use the telephone than it used to, and any phone bill always startles me, but this fourteen-million-dollar one strikes me as extra stiff. Did I exceed the three-minute period on a couple of toll-line calls from a pay station or something? I wish you would check and send me a complete list of calls and also be sure you have not got my phone bill mixed up with the lady next door.

Your action, Joe, knocks in the head your claim you want peace. Nobody who wants peace sends another guy a fourteen-million-dollar telephone bill. I have known terrible fights to break out over phone bills that were nowhere near that big. A phone bill of that size could start a war, and all the sympathy would be on the side that got it. From the very start you would have even the satellites saying, "Let's throw Joe overboard. He's the fellow who talks about brotherly love and sends out phone bills that knock your eye out."

As if the bill wasn't enough you send out a pretty nasty letter saying it is long overdue, and that you will cut the service if payment isn't made by return mail. I once knew a very peace-

my first movie. It was "The Ten Commandments."

Eventually he became a nightclub singer and a stock-company and radio actor. He played the part in "Rosalinda," an adaptation of "Die Fledermaus," whose cast also included Shelley Winters. In "Catherine Was Great" he had a leading role opposite Mae West. There were shorter-lived roles—and, in the last three years, some 70 TV parts.

To crack the movies, Barry has found, "you need guts. You're selling a very intangible thing—your belief in yourself." Then, while awaiting the public's and the critics' reaction, you need patience.

For even Barry's six-year-old son Michael knows Gene is no movie star yet. Mike describes his dad to pals as a stunt man because "it's more daring."

Tractor-Trailer Sideswipes Pole, Plunges Over Bank

A Carbon County truck driver escaped serious injury early yesterday morning when his tractor-trailer swerved off Route 611 about three miles south of Stroudsburg, sideswiped a utility pole and plunged down an embankment where it overturned.

Herman Haydt, 34, of Parryville, climbed from the cab of the truck owned by Clinton Strohl, Lehigh-RD 3, and told area residents and police he was not injured. Contents of the truck, several tons of culm, were strewn over the area and the truck rested on its right side about 50 feet from the home of Bennett Strait.

According to Haydt he was driving in the middle lane toward Delaware Water Gap about 4:30 a. m. when the mishap occurred. He said a road block set up by construction crews who are repairing the section of Route 611 suddenly loomed in front of him and he turned right to avoid a crash. Haydt claimed the metal drum which protects a section of the torn-up highway contained no flare and was not visible until he was almost at the spot.

After swerving the truck clipped the service pole in freak fashion so that the impact resounded through the wood until it reached the peak where the waving cracked off the upper portion of the pole. Wires ripped from their moorings were repaired by utility crewmen.

Two Couples Seek Licenses

Two couples applied for marriage licenses at the courthouse yesterday. They were Bernard C. Sunsaules, East Stroudsburg RD, and Jane Marion Serfass, Stroudsburg; and Paul E. Kuehner, Kunklestown RD2, and Dolores I. Felier, Kresgeville.

George Mosier, Daulton Serfass, Joseph Jacques and William Woolver.

Paul bearers were Earl Palmer, Rudolph Blitz, Robert Gaunt and John Darr. Interment was made in Cherry Lane Cemetery.

Police Take Specimens To Harrisburg

Pfc. Ed. Beneski yesterday delivered specimens from autopsies on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sielski to the State Police laboratory in Harrisburg.

The specimens will be submitted to toxicological tests to check on the possibility that the Jersey City couple were victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Beneski, an investigator from the Stroudsburg substation, also delivered a bottle containing an unidentified fluid. The bottle was found in the wash basin in the bathroom of the cottage at 719 Rosemont Ave., Arlington Heights. The fluid will also be analyzed, said Sgt. Morgan B. Davis, commander of the Stroudsburg station.

Beneski returned late yesterday afternoon. Sgt. Davis has said it may be a week before the findings are reported.

Police conducted no further check of the cottage or grounds yesterday, Sgt. Davis said.

Sgt. Davis has already reported that authorities are satisfied no foul play was involved. So far police have not reported finding any evidence supporting a theory of suicide.

The Sielskis, both 29, arrived in their car from Jersey City last Thursday. They planned a week-long vacation in the rented cottage owned by Clarence A. Hassinger, operator of the Beaver House.

Several hours after eating dinner Thursday night, they died, the autopsy findings disclosed Tuesday. The bodies were found in the cottage Sunday.

Tuesday afternoon police and city gas experts went over the cottage and grounds to check for any signs of carbon monoxide leakage. They found none, Sgt. Davis said.

Services for the Sielskis were held yesterday morning in a Jersey City Catholic church. Burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery in North Arlington, a Jersey City suburb.

The funeral took place about 13 months after the childhood sweethearts were married. They had no children.

At present he spends his week-ends at home.

97-Year-Old Man Admits To Good, Long Life But Modestly Recalls His Neighbor Is Older

By James B. Gaffney

"There's a man just down the street who is about a year and a half older than me. So I guess you really couldn't say I was the oldest man around these parts."

This statement from Frank Besecker on his 97th birthday anniversary yesterday reflects the modest opinion of a likable gentleman whose thoughts at the moment were of his neighbor, "only a stone's throw away," Peter Sharp who marked his 98th year Feb. 14.

Mr. Besecker resides with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Smith at 119 King St., East Stroudsburg, in a home the near-centenarian built in 1887. His elder, Mr. Sharp, lives with his son, Oscar, at 443 Williams St., "just down the street."

Born in Price Township on a small home along Brodheads Creek, Mr. Besecker recalled he was raised near Cresco in Barrett Township and moved to East Stroudsburg about 64 years ago.

"I just finished building my house when the big blizzard started," the congenial six-foot gent said. "Jennie was our only child and I'm the last one of my family. There were ten in our family," he continued.

Mr. Besecker recalled his early years, noting "I've worked hard all my life. When I first came here I worked for a tannery and then went to East Stroudsburg Lumber Co. Guess I worked there about 25 or 30 years," he added.

"My memory isn't so good anymore," Mr. Besecker explained. "I can't read the papers or magazines anymore and very seldom listen to the radio because my hearing isn't too good. But I really like company." He expressed great pleasure in the visit

Tuesday "of some of my relatives. They're real good to me. Bring me candy and I do like their company."

Except for four years when, as a young man, he went to the western part of Pennsylvania to live, Mr. Besecker has spent his entire life in this section.

While the past events are practically forgotten now the 97-year-old expressed pride in maintaining his fortitude and is still able to maneuver around the home. "It's been about two or three years since I've been outside the house," he added. "It doesn't make much difference though, long as I have company and can pass the time of day with someone to talk to."

As the 97th date of his birth passed quietly, Mr. Besecker commented softly, "I've had a good long life. I've worked hard all my life."

Vassar Bag Co. Stresses Quality In Merchandise

The thirty-fifth of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here; how it is made, the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James B. Gaffney

An interesting operation productively and a major manufacturer economically where the Stroudsburgs are concerned, is that work being completed daily by Vassar Import Bag Co., Inc., located on First St. in Stroudsburg.

Sharing in the outlay of about $470,000 in salaries last year were 130 employees who work as a team at this plant where some of the finest women's purses are produced.

Robert M. Sommers, president of the corporation came here 21 years ago from New York City where he founded the concern in 1917.

Arriving in Stroudsburg with six foremen, Sommers immediately began employing local people and his operations grew constantly until at present his product and the work of his employees have gained national prominence.

Three of the original foremen still are the key workers at the plant: Henry Reader, Harry Levenstein and Harry Oloff.

With ample room for production and storage—26,000 square feet of floor space—Vassar Bag is recognized for its quality merchandise. As Sommers explains, "You have to turn out good work today or the public won't buy your merchandise."

Purses are made from a manifold list of alligator and reptile skins which are imported from Asia, India, Africa, South America and other foreign lands. Also in heavy production are bags made of cashmere, broadcloth, faille, calfskin and numerous other materials ordered specifically for the desired purpose.

Vassar's over-all retail selling list contains about 200 various styles and colors, and each type purse also varies in price, from a $5 bag to the $40 alligator skin purse.

After the material arrives here from the metropolitan area it is stored in a large stockroom and categorized into compartments where the employees draw their first operation.

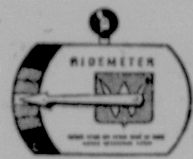

Sommers himself designs all the bags manufactured and the company makes its own patterns. From these patterns the leather or fabric is cut to specified lengths and designs. Then begins a long list of operations, with each department responsible for the completion of either gluing, sewing, piecing or finishing. The final operation is inspection, where each purse undergoes a rigid examination before passed to the customer.

Leather is both machine and hand-cut, depending on the size needed for the several pieces that are joined later to complete the bag. Inner-linings comprise one of the initial operations and the strips of leather used in the bag are "thinned" by use of a machine with a revolving blade which trims the skin to the thickness desired.

One of the latest machines employed in production resembles a vacuum cleaner and electric razor combined. Prior to the introduction (Continued on page fourteen)

Advance crews have cleared a 130-foot right-of-way which provides for a 24-foot-wide, two-strip concrete and asphalt road and allows for third strip. Twelve bridges will carry the road over rivers and curves are designed to permit a steady flow of traffic at speeds of 60 miles an hour. When the road is finished, motorists will be able to drive over a hard-surface road from Arica, Peru, to Puerto Montt, Chile, a distance of 2,112 miles, almost half the total length of the South American highway. And, the new road will open large areas to agricultural development and give access to a scenic seacoast.

Fresh Air Group Sets Deadline

Deadline for filing invitations for Fresh Air Children by regional residents has been fixed at July 3, Mrs. John R. Wilson, chairman of the Pocono Mountains Fresh Air Committee said yesterday.

The chairman said total invitations are now approaching 40 with a good chance that last year's invitation list of 66 children will be exceeded.

All of the children are selected by the New York Herald Tribune Fresh Air fund organization with the aid of top New York City social and welfare agencies.

Each child, after careful screening by experts, is given a thorough physical examination.

The Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund pays all transportation fees and provides insurance coverage for each youngster.

Invitation period is for approximately two weeks. All of the children are of the underprivileged type, most of whom have never been out of the city to see anything resembling this type of country.

Many of those who are inviting children this year are residents who have so enjoyed having them in previous years, they want them back for another summer vacation period.

Moral Delinquency

Why must we have to wait for a Sunday to join a church—why can't we join and be baptized any day?

This is too important a matter to be relegated to one day a week. Joining a church is a personal matter between the person and God, it does not have to be made into a public show. Many people are self-conscious about doing things in public and do not join.

There is too much indifference by our ministers toward these people.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

But you could have heard the banging down all over town yesterday morning as the cool breezes swept through the houses, and people rose shivering. However, most people were so busy that they hadn't time to shiver, practically.

Had a hard time keeping my eyes on my wedding with all the cars gliding by bearing the women to the card party yesterday afternoon at Shawnee. Good as a fashion show it was, and they certainly were well-furled and beflowered.

And bewildered was the young robin on the cedar tree by the house. He certainly picked a windy day to try his wings. He was practically blown into the cedar, and once safely on a branch hung there for dear life.

You know how cedars bend and sway—well he'd hung on and bend forward against the pole, and then practically be switched off when the tree snapped back.

His mother sat on the spruce with a worm in her beak trying to coax him over, but he only closed his eyes, opened his mouth, and hung on tighter.

Sort of frustrating to have to leave right in the middle of the little drama, so I'll never know how it turned out. Anyway he's gone now, and I might have picked up some pointers about how to manage my own young — bound and determined to try their own wings this summer, it seems.

Wyckoff

SHOPPER

There are plenty of kind hearts at Wyckoff's. But the coronets also wear their appearance Saturday, worn by the tiniest of our customers, including the Welch twins of North Sixth Street. Watched over by their big brother, they stopped to admire the toy display where they attracted smiling attention with the white bands around their head, red-lettered "Daily Vacation Bible School"...

Mr. Kerlin, feeling that many persons who have bought yarn elsewhere may feel a bit reluctant to come into Wyckoff's and ask assistance from Mary Hosier, has announced that our store knitting instructor will gladly advise everyone. Lessons are free to those buying their yarn here, and to others there will be a small charge. I notice that Mary had a busy afternoon yesterday. She's here, you know, each Tuesday through Friday from 2 to 4:30...

It doesn't seem possible, but on Tuesday I saw Mr. Ernest Wyckoff and our gift department's Marion Leedom, looking over a salesman's sample of Christmas decorations. Just between us, I could do with a few leicels right now!... Ham was eight cents a pound in 1848. Why I mention it, I haven't any idea since it won't add one iota to anyone's happiness, will it?... Stopping by the fabrics department to place a mail order with Hattie Walters, I began dreaming how nice it would be to have dresses made of all the prettiest fabrics—that sheer voile, for instance, in my favorite shade of coral; also gray, green, navy or black, which sells at $1.19. Or the dotted swiss, by Stoffel, with the tiny pinpoints of white on colorful backgrounds, at the same price. The printed voile at $1.25 is beautiful too, and looks like silk when worn over a shimmer-satin slip. And for 65c there is 39 inch batiste in a pretty paisley design. A woman who takes the time can be SEW-SEW pretty these summer days!... Amy Ellenberger has more notions in her head than are offered in her entire department—and one of them that makes particular sense, has to do with storing winter clothing during these weeks of summer. "College students who are home on vacation will be particularly interested in these, I believe," says Amy as she displays an entire new line of plastic storage, clothing and shoe bags, of virgin vinyl plastic. There are bags to hold 8 garments at $3.59 or 16 garments at $4.25. Shoe bags holding up to six pairs are $2.98. Suit bags, 42 inches long, sell for $3.59, and a bag with five shelves is $5.98. ## Elected Committee Women To Help Choose Democratic Officers For First Time

McIlhenny—The Monroe County Democratic Committee will be geared for the November election wars in Chestnut Hill Inn here Tuesday night, June 17 with women of the party sitting in for the first time on an organization meeting.

John Brislin, Democratic county chairman, said last night that delegates to the national convention in Chicago in July and candidates have been invited to participate.

Women enter the organization meeting and have a voice in election of party officers for the first time because party by-laws were amended to allow election of committee women. They were elected at the April 11 meeting.

Heretofore, the committee women were appointed by committee-men who were elected by party voters—both women and men.

Brislin said that a party secretary and a party treasurer will be elected by the committeemen and women.

The important executive committee personnel will also be completed by the election of required number of members, the county chairman announced.

Advisory committees dealing with varied phases of party activity, especially in the line of campaigns, are to be appointed, Mr. Brislin said.

This type of operating committee is something new in Democratic party affairs here. Party officials believe they will be of definite value not only in elections but in year-round party service projects in Monroe County.

Harold C. Edwards, Stroudsburg attorney and Everett Kent, Bangor, attorney, both delegates from the 15th Congressional District consisting of Monroe, Carbon and Northampton counties have been invited.

Van D. Yetter, Marshalls Creek businessman and nominee for representative in General Assembly, is expected to be present.

"Attendance by every man and woman on the county committee will be essential," Brislin said, "because each should exercise his or her vote during the election of officers and be prepared to contribute to the overall discussions."

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Jimmy Werkheiser, former shortstop with Pocono A. C., and second baseman with East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, apparently arrived in Union City, Tenn., in time to get caught in one of the wildest rube games in the history of the Union City ball park, where some of the best Kitty League games have been played down through the years, so this column has been informed. With Manager Frank Radler at bat, as a pinch hitter, Werkheiser attempted to score from third base on a passed ball.

However, the umpire called the flying former Pocono High star out, despite the fact that everyone else in the park saw the play easily the other way. Union City needed the run badly and to make matters worse, the same umpire ruled in favor of Jackson in a similar situation only an inning or two previously. The Union City team, led by Radler, charged the umpire and before order could be restored, the crowd also gave the men-in-blue a good going over. The result was that the umpires needed a police escort out of town.

Jim is now holding down third base regularly for Union City, after playing left and right field and shortstop and at a recent date had a six-game hitting streak going. Werkheiser is hitting around .376 at the present time, after getting off to a slow start, as he was used almost entirely in a pinch-hitting role during his first week with the club. Lloyd "Sonny" Woodling, former pitcher with ESSTC and Redders, the latter of the Pocono Mountains League, appeared in his first game the other day and during two innings of work retired two batters on strikes and walked only one.

Woodling entered the contest in a tough spot, coming to the mound with the bases loaded and no outs. The Redders resident walked the first batter but fanned the next one, limiting the opposition to one run. Woodling, like Werkheiser, is a former Pocono High School athletic star. Radler's club is currently in seventh place and not sixth as reported yesterday.

Bill Wilson, a left-handed pitcher who formerly played with John Schoonover at Easton, of the East-Penn League, stopped off in Stroudsburg on Tuesday to pitch batting practice for Pocono A. C. at Gordon Giffels field. Wilson, 22 years old, was enroute to Hagerstown, Md., where he will play in the Inter-State League. The southpaw hurler recently signed a Boston Braves' contract.

John Drew, hard hitting catcher for Pocono A. C., became the father of a baby girl early yesterday morning. It is the second child for the Drews, the first being a boy. Bill Dwyer, a member of the Stroudsburg police force, taking his turn on the Glen Brook fairways yesterday and doing a good job with his long woods. Spence Walker, ace right-handed pitcher for the Tobyhanna entry in the Pocono Mountain Association, has an average of 13 strikeouts a game thus far this season.

Speaking of the Pocono Mountain Association brings to mind the fact that Sunday, June 22, which originally was scheduled as an open date, will now be used to make up games that were rained out on Sunday, May 25. The games which were washed off the books in the same league on Sunday, June 1, will be played on Friday, July 4, unless that date is used for an all star game between the outstanding players of the Pocono Mountain Association and the Wayne County League. If the all-star contest becomes a reality, it will be held at Gouldsboro.

Yesterday's Northampton County American Legion League contest between East Stroudsburg and Bangor, at Bangor's Memorial Park, was postponed until Monday, due to commencement exercises at Bangor High. The East Stroudsburg club travels to Pen Argyl tomorrow for another league clash. Pen Argyl recently hung a 13-2 licking on Wilson Borough, the same club that even more recently, last Saturday to be exact, won over East Stroudsburg, 4-2, in 10 innings. Sal DeFide, one of the true Rosetos, Blue Mountain League fans, is now employed at Vacation Valley for the Summer. Sal graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College last month.

Bill Bennett is scheduled to drive Bernie Clemens' stock car at Pittston's Bone Stadium tomorrow, it was learned yesterday. Clemens runs a service station in East Stroudsburg and Bennett is a resident of Senanton. The Pocono Mountain League baseball meeting at Bartonsville Hotel on Monday is expected to be an interesting affair and every team is urged to have a representative on hand. According to reports reaching this typewriter the business to be discussed is of a legal nature, and deals with at least two clubs.

Peoples Coal Takes Measure Of Penn-Stroud Hotel, 2-1

Peoples Coal won its first start in the Stroudsburg Little League yesterday, with a 2-1 decision over the Penn-Stroud Hotel, at the newly constructed Little League park at the Stroudsburg Playground.

The winning club was guilty of three errors and they were officially the only misplays in the contest, as all the scoring was confined to the first inning.

Peoples Coal picked up two markers in the top half of the initial frame and the Penn-Stroud contingent, which lost its initial contest the day before, came through with its only run in the bottom half of the same inning.

Today's schedule calls for the National Bank to face Security Trust, with the game listed for 6:30 p. m.

Portland Blanks West Bangor, 9-0 Standings

Apollos Land Tenth Straight League Victory

Portland — Portland's power-packed Apollos ran their victory streak to 10 straight games in the Blue Mountain League yesterday, with a convincing 9-0 decision over West Bangor, here on the winning contingent's home grounds. Portland hasn't suffered a setback against league competition this season thus far.

Bill Greenamoyer, veteran southpaw, worked the distance on the hill for the Apollos, scattering three hits over the seven-inning route, while his mates pounded out nine safeties.

Portland opened the scoring before a small home crowd with one run in the first and then came back to take a safe 3-0 advantage with two tallies in the bottom half of the third round.

Big Inning
However, Portland really put the game in the freezing compartment with six big markers in the home half of the sixth stanza.

Not one of the West Bangor batters was able to account for more than one hit off the veteran Greenamoyer, while Bob Trippanera and George Jackson led the Portland offense by combining for five of the nine hits blasted out by the Apollos.

Yesterday's victory enabled the Apollos to strengthen their hold on the top spot in the standings, a position they have at least shared from the opening day of the season.

Red Sox Rally To Sink Browns

Boston (4) — Catcher Sammy White's grand-slam homer against relief pitcher Satchel Paige last night enabled the Boston Red Sox to overtake the St. Louis Browns for an 11-9 victory after putting on a six-run surge with one out in the ninth inning.

Cass Michaels and Dick Kryhoski homered for the Browns as they dropped their first game in two tries under new manager Marty Marion.

Pittsburgh (4) — Little Murry Dickson hurled a brilliant five-hitter last night as the Pittsburgh Pirates shut out the Boston Braves 5-0.

LaMotta Rallies To Decision Murphy

Detroit, CP — Jolting Jake LaMotta barged past Irish Bob Murphy's left hooks in a savage ninth and tenth round comeback assault to win a 10-round unanimous decision last night before a near sellout crowd of some 16,000 fans. LaMotta weighed 169 1/2 and Murphy 175 1/2.

Rarely has Jake scored a more dramatic victory in Detroit, his "Lucky City." For eight rounds he had vainly tried to solve Murphy's puzzling southpaw style. When he finally did, Murphy was staggering and almost off his feet. But the crowd was on its toes roaring.

Jake, hoping now to get a crack at the light heavyweight title, backed Murphy into Jake's own corner late in the ninth round and exploded two lefts against the ex-sailor's jaw. Murphy rocked backwards.

Again in the tenth, Jake jolted Murphy, who stopped Jake in seven rounds a year ago.

This is how the officials scored the nationally televised and broadcast battle, one of the most rousing this city has seen:

Referee Lou Handler and Judge Andrew Brown each gave LaMotta a 51-49 edge; Judge John Weher had it 55 to 45 for Jake.

The AP score card gave LaMotta, in the fifth fight of his career, a 52-48 edge.

Murphy's swinging left hooks and uppercuts kept Jake backing up and wary early in the fight. Jake, strictly a left handed puncher, wasn't able to counter effectively against the barrage.

Finally in the ninth Jake swarmed past Murphy and that ended Irish Bob's hopes of getting an immediate crack at the light heavyweight crown.

Game Ordered Replayed In Softball Loop

A clean cut win and an ordered replay were the results of yesterday's action in the Monroe County Softball League, with Union Printers topping Ronson, 10-3, at the Stroudsburg Playground, in the only definite result.

The Eagles-Kulp's Foundry game resulted in an 8-8 tie, according to a ruling handed down following the game by Gail Fegley, league president. The contest has been ordered replayed at the end of the first half of the schedule.

The dispute arose from inadequate ground rules at the East Stroudsburg Junior High School field.

Kulp's Club had piled up an 8-0 lead, but the Eagles rallied to apparently win, 9-8. However, a play in the fifth inning, in which Cy Miller went deep into a patch of fly ball, resulted in the rumpus.

Miller and his teammates maintained that he made a legal catch, while the umpire in charge ruled a two-base hit, believing that Miller dropped the ball.

Today's schedule will send Worthington Mower against IAM at the East Stroudsburg Junior High school field, while Tucker's Chevrolet tangles with Tru-Matic, at Stroudsburg Playground. Both games are listed for 6:15 p.m.

ph's puzzling southpaw style. When he finally did, Murphy was staggering and almost off his feet. But the crowd was on its toes roaring.

Jake, hoping now to get a crack at the light heavyweight title, backed Murphy into Jake's own corner late in the ninth round and exploded two lefts against the ex-sailor's jaw. Murphy rocked backwards.

Again in the tenth, Jake jolted Murphy, who stopped Jake in seven rounds a year ago.

This is how the officials scored the nationally televised and broadcast battle, one of the most rousing this city has seen:

Referee Lou Handler and Judge Andrew Brown each gave LaMotta a 51-49 edge; Judge John Weher had it 55 to 45 for Jake.

The AP score card gave LaMotta, in the fifth fight of his career, a 52-48 edge.

Murphy's swinging left hooks and uppercuts kept Jake backing up and wary early in the fight. Jake, strictly a left handed puncher, wasn't able to counter effectively against the barrage.

Finally in the ninth Jake swarmed past Murphy and that ended Irish Bob's hopes of getting an immediate crack at the light heavyweight crown.

Game Ordered Replayed In Softball Loop

A clean cut win and an ordered replay were the results of yesterday's action in the Monroe County Softball League, with Union Printers topping Ronson, 10-3, at the Stroudsburg Playground, in the only definite result.

The Eagles-Kulp's Foundry game resulted in an 8-8 tie, according to a ruling handed down following the game by Gail Fegley, league president. The contest has been ordered replayed at the end of the first half of the schedule.

The dispute arose from inadequate ground rules at the East Stroudsburg Junior High School field.

Kulp's Club had piled up an 8-0 lead, but the Eagles rallied to apparently win, 9-8. However, a play in the fifth inning, in which Cy Miller went deep into a patch of fly ball, resulted in the rumpus.

Miller and his teammates maintained that he made a legal catch, while the umpire in charge ruled a two-base hit, believing that Miller dropped the ball.

Today's schedule will send Worthington Mower against IAM at the East Stroudsburg Junior High school field, while Tucker's Chevrolet tangles with Tru-Matic, at Stroudsburg Playground. Both games are listed for 6:15 p.m.

Snead, Hogan Mangrum Top Open List

By Will Grimley

Dallas (AP)—The scoreboard listed 162 contenders but the locker rooms buzzed with only three names—Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum yesterday on the eve of the 52nd National Open Golf Championship.

These leather-tough old campaigners—Snead is 40, Hogan 39 and Mangrum 37—are prime favorites in the 72-hole, three-day test beginning this morning over the young but sassy Northwood course.

Sticky heat, the law of averages and an old bugaboo were factors which might tend to favor a stout, young outsider, but these were being given only scant consideration in the pre-tournament prognostications.

Averages

The law of averages should figure to work against the bantam Hogan, who has won this title three of the last four years and in his last three appearances. He was fighting for his life in 1949 because of an automobile accident.

Only two other men have won four open championships—Willie Anderson back at the turn of the century and Bobby Jones between 1923 and 1930—but neither could do it in successive tries.

The jinx rears its head in the case of Snead, the sport's Symphonia of Swing who blew the title with a horrendous eight at Spring Mill in 1939, dubbed a 30-inch putt on the final hole of a playoff in 1947 and lost by a stroke in 1949 when he misjudged a club.

Now they're saying Sam is a snake-bit man who will never win the Open but the West Virginia capitalist turned author just this week in a national magazine to predict "I Can Still Win the Open."

Sam realizes perhaps better than anyone that time is running out. The oldest man ever to capture this coveted prize was Britain's colorful Ted Ray in 1920 at Inverness.

Nevertheless, only one man appears to be as hot with the sticks right now as the pride of the Virginias. That is Mangrum, a suave, steel-eyed little Texan who looks like the Hollywood version of a Mississippi River steam boat gambler.

Newspapers

Mangrum, who once sold newspapers on the corners here, has won three of his last six tournaments, finished second in one and third in the other two. He is a cold, calculating shotmaker, winner of the open in 1946 when he was just out of the service.

In seven practice tours at Northwood, Hogan has never been better than 71.

Sauer Blasts Three Homers Off Simmons To Give Cubs Favorable Decision Over Phillies

Chicago, (AP)—Big "Hank" Sauer for the second time in his career jolted lefty Curt Simmons for three homers in a single game to single-handedly give the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 win over the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday.

The rampaging Sauer thus boosted his National League leadership in homers to 18 and in RBI's to 58.

Sauer smashed three homers off Simmons previously on August 28, 1950, also at Wrigley Field.

It was the first time a major league batter ever blasted three homers off the same pitcher in two different games.

Each of his circuit clouts yesterday were lead-off blows. In the third inning he popped out at second base.

Boner
Turk Lown needed a Philly base-running boner with the bases loaded in the sixth and last inning help from ancient "Dutch" Leonard to win.

Two walks and a single loaded the sacks for Philadelphia in the sixth, but when Richy Ashburn dropped a single in center, Tom Brown sped from first to third without touching second and was called out when the Cubs noticed the omission.

The Phillies continued to feud with umpire Al Barlick as the game continued into the next inning over the call. Finally Barlick banished both Willie Jones, the Phils' ailing third baseman with a bruised thumb, and Robin Roberts, the ace Philadelphia pitcher.

Circuit Blows Give Yankees Nod Over Tigers

New York (AP)—Veteran Johnny Sain, helped by the home run bats of Joe Collins and "Yogi" Berra, tamed the Detroit Tigers, 7-2 yesterday, as the New York Yankees solidified their hold on first place with their fifth straight victory.

Extra Bases
The 33-year-old righthander was tagged for 10 hits to only eight the Yankees managed off rookie Billy Hoelt, but only one Tiger base knock was for extra bases while the world champions rapped three home runs. Two were propelled by Collins, who drove in four runs. Berra's blast, his third in two games and his seventh of the season, touched off a clinching four-run spree in the eighth.

Boone Wins Rifle Match

Henryville—E. E. Boone III won top honors in the Marine Corps League Junior Rifle Platoon shooting match recently, and in addition to having his name engraved on the Kreck Trophy, received field glasses.

Second place went to Claude Schaller who received a hatchet and knife combination. Third place was Dale Newhart who won a prize of a landing net. Fourth was John Kintz who won a hood tender. Fifth, George Muth, received a flash light. Scott Shumaker as sixth, received a gun oiler. Richard Edwards as seventh received a fisherman's helper. In eighth place John Swartley received a cleaning rod. Ninth was Richard Strunk, whose prize was a shell clock.

Officers
E. E. Boone Jr. is the Commander of the Marine Corps League, while Jacob Kintz is instructor of the platoon.

During this summer there will be a recess from meetings. The group had been meeting twice monthly at the East Stroudsburg Armory. However, there will be no meetings until September 4.

The match was held here on the McCool Rifle Range.

Pep Scheduled For Bout
Boston (AP)—The Andy Callahan A.C. yesterday announced Willie Pep, twice world featherweight champion, and Tommy Collins, New England featherweight titlist, would meet in a ten round bout at Boston Garden June 26.

Bishop Oxnham Sees Attack Leading To Church Advance

Harrisburg, (AP) — Bishop G. Bromley Oxnham, functional head of the Methodist Church's New York area told the Northeastern Methodist Jurisdiction Conference last night that the world-wide attack upon the church today holds promise of a world-wide church advance tomorrow.

Bishop Oxnham, who is also president of the world council of churches, said, "the church has made its greatest advances in periods immediately following brutal attacks."

The church leader's address was heard by some 300 delegates and several hundred visitors attending the once-every-four-years conference. Sessions opened yesterday and will continue until Sunday.

A major action of the conference will be election of a new bishop to replace Dr. Charles Wesley Flint, bishop of the Washington, D.C., area who has announced his retirement.

In a welcoming address, Gov. John S. Fine said people would not have to worry about wars any

Contract Calls For Birthdays Off With Pay

Rome, N.Y. (AP) — A 54-day-old strike ended this week under an agreement providing—among other things—that employees get their birthdays off with pay.

The International Association of Machinists signed the pact with the Rome Grader Division of the Pettibone-Mulliken Co.

The company will pay the 214 workers for each birthday as a seventh paid holiday, President E. J. Seifert said. He said the three-

Senate Refuses Again To Grant Seizure Powers

Washington (AP) — The Senate underscored its virtual demand that President Truman use the Taft-Hartley Law in the nation-wide steel strike yesterday, and bluntly indicated that the next move is up to the White House.

By a rollcall vote of 54 to 26, the Senate batted down another in a series of amendments designed to give Truman the emergency seizure powers he requested.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Morse (R-Ore), was the fourth seizure plan rejected by the chamber in less than 24 hours.

House Group Votes To Kill Credit Curbs

Washington (AP) — The House Banking Committee voted yesterday to kill all controls on consumer and real estate credit June 30.

At the same time the committee agreed on a full year's extension of wage, price and rent control powers.

It also wrote a rule that price supports for six basic farm commodities—corn, wheat, cotton, peanuts, tobacco and rice—shall not be less than 90 per cent of parity, and refused to restore power for the administration to apply livestock slaughtering quotas.

Parity is a legal formula for determining a price level declared to be fair to farmers in relation to the prices of things they buy. The supports now are on a sliding scale of 75 to 90 per cent.

The committee adopted those provisions as it worked its way through a bill to extend the Defense Production Act. That basic economic controls law expires at the end of this month.

The committee, hoping to finish its job today, stayed away from the steel crisis measures which have embroiled the Senate as that body worked toward final passage of its own version of Defense Production Act extension.

Except for the slaughtering quotas ban, all the sections approved by the House group were different from the corresponding parts of the Senate's bill.

The Senate measure provides for extension of credit control authority to next March 1. It fixes the same date, four months short of the one chosen by the House committee, for an end to wage-price-rent powers. And it lacks any provision for the fixed farm price supports.

The Banking Committee refused to remove two provisions of the price control law which the Truman administration criticized as restrictive. The Capehart and Herlong amendments, written into the law last year, were retained.

Realtor Finds Bathtub In Use In Vacant House

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP) — When a real estate agent went to show a prospective buyer a vacant house, he found it partially occupied. There was a man in the bathtub.

The latter, John Cruickshank, 59, was given 15 days in jail yesterday on a drunk charge.

Solons Propose Bipartisan Group On Foreign Policy

Washington, (AP)—Legislation establishing a 12-member bipartisan commission to chart future American foreign policy was approved unanimously yesterday by a House foreign affairs sub-committee.

The commission would submit a blueprint for future foreign policy directly to Congress. The legislators would determine what to do with it.

The President would appoint two commission members from the government and two private citizens. The President of the Senate and speaker of the House each would appoint two congressmen and two laymen. They would be from both parties.

Rep. Battle (D-Ala.), a sponsor, said this would mark the first effort to enlist the best brains from private life in moulding a foreign program.

Immigration Bill Sent To White House

Washington (AP) — Congress completed action yesterday on a controversial new code of laws governing immigration and naturalization.

The bulky bill has been attacked as the equivalent of an Iron Curtain around the United States, and defended as a measure necessary to maintain the American way of life.

The Senate passed it by a voice vote yesterday and sent it to the White House, where opponents hope it will be vetoed by President Truman.

Although the bill would lower racial barriers to admit certain Orientals now excluded from this country, and would eliminate sex discriminations, it also tightens the security screen for aliens and would give preference to aliens with skills needed in the United States.

It would retain the national origin system of immigration quotas, based mainly on the makeup of the American population in 1920. A total of 154,658 immigrants could be admitted annually. This is 380 more than is permitted in the tangle of existing laws.

Red Buildup Not Evident

Berlin, (AP)—Russia is waving the big stick at Europe without a buildup of her armed forces on the Elbe River line that would portend war this year, Western officials said last night.

No reinforcements have appeared in East Germany for Gen. Vasily Chulikov's command, which Western experts put at 30 divisions approximately 200,000 troops. Immediately behind these men are only two to four divisions on lines of communication throughout Poland.

Chulikov has a super-modern arm of jet fighters and light bombers. But they are reported slightly less in numbers than the 550 jets he had in 1951. Some were withdrawn to be fitted with more powerful engines. Others may have been transferred to the North Korean front.

Allied intelligence analyzes the absence of new Russian formations during summer maneuvers on the East German springboard as evidence that Moscow is at present aiming at goals more limited than the lightning conquest of this continent.

The Western forecast, however, is for bitter developments in Russia's struggle to wipe out free Berlin as "show window of the West" and to frighten West Germany from rearming in the European Defense Community.

Fighting Rages On Invasion Route

Seoul, (AP)—Savage fighting raged yesterday along an ancient invasion route to Seoul for the fifth straight day after the Reds unleashed one of their most violent artillery barrages of the war.

The U. S. Eighth Army communique spoke of "heavy fighting" in the west near Chorwon. A briefing officer said the Reds were stepping up attacks in the west and center and seemed to be moving up more artillery.

The Defense Department in Washington reported U. S. battle casualties in Korea had reached 109,712, an increase of 553 in a week. This was the largest number of American casualties reported in any week since Dec. 12. Included were 64 killed.

Neutrals Proposed

Washington (AP) — President Truman suggested yesterday that military men from five neutral nations be invited to visit Korea and observe United Nations treatment of Communist prisoners of war.

Police Lift Roadblocks But Continue Search For Slayers

Compound 95 Cleared With No Resistance

Koje Island, Korea (AP) — American infantrymen today cleared 4,800 North Korean prisoners of war from a fourth Kojido stockade and began a search for possible new victims of Communist diehards.

The transfer was made without resistance—although a prison leader sought to delay the move.

The battered bodies of 15 anti-Red prisoners, slain by their comrades, were uncovered yesterday following a similar transfer.

The first group of 150 prisoners—holding hands on orders—moved out of Compound 95 today without a sign of resistance.

"Keep your bayonets down," Brig. Gen. Haydon L. (Bull) Boatner ordered his men. "Don't stick them in their buttocks."

The move was made a few minutes behind schedule following a 10-minute parley in front of the compound gate between Boatner and a prisoner leader.

Boatner told the Red leader that if his orders were obeyed, no one would be hurt.

The Kojido commander rejected the prisoner leader's request for a one hour delay.

The captives were not split up immediately into new 500-man compounds. Instead, they were transferred temporarily into old enclosure 91.

This will permit engineers to use some of the area occupied by Compound 95 for a nearly completed new enclosure, Boatner said.

The Reds apparently got word of the transfer by the prisoner "grapevine." They burned records and documents last night. Then, at 1 a. m., they feasted on their stored rations.

Boatner granted the compound leader's request that the POWs be permitted to keep their personal belongings.

Federal Road Aid Measure Wins Passage

Washington (AP) — A bill authorizing the federal government to invest $1,366,650,000 in national and international highways was passed by Congress yesterday.

The Senate passed the bill and sent it to President Truman a few hours after the House had acted.

A $1,366,650,000 program for highways in the United States was approved for the two years beginning July 1, 1953.

In addition, the bill okayed four million dollars for aid in construction of the Rama Road in Nicaragua over the two years beginning July 1, 1952, and 16 million for the Inter-American Highway in Central America during the next two fiscal years.

The road-building measure, approved by voice vote, is a compromise of bills passed previously by the House and Senate.

It makes no change in the present formula under which states must match some of the funds put up by the federal government for planning and construction.

Congress authorizes its road programs two years in advance of actual appropriations to give some states time to determine how much of the available funds they can match. Usually, not all the authorization is covered in subsequent appropriations.

Fine Seeking To Control Convention, Says Paper Holds Threat Of Patronage

Harrisburg (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine was ready yesterday to use all the power of his administration against a premature stampede to swing the bulk of Pennsylvania's Republican National Convention delegation behind any presidential candidate.

The Governor is chairman of the 70-vote group which is the largest uncommitted block of convention delegates. To date he has successfully discouraged anything that might be read as a show of strength within the delegation.

He intends to continue to do that until his own decision is made. At that point, Fine believes he will be able to line up some 50 or more votes in support of either Sen. Robert A. Taft or Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, or perhaps—and this may be no more than a distant possibility—Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

However, Fine himself remains steadfastly uncommitted, undecided when he will make up his mind, and apparently unimpressed by all the maneuvering going on for his support.

When he does decide, he insists, his choice will be made on issues and not on candidates. In an interview with the Associated Press the Governor emphasized that he views the "tremendous expenditures" of the federal government as the most vital issue of the day.

Fine, like many another Republican leader, wants to see his delegation become the turning point of the nominating convention. And both Taft and Eisenhower backers are willing to agree he is now in a powerful strategic position. There is substantial sentiment within the delegation now for each candidate. The most recent Associated Press poll shows 20 delegates favoring Eisenhower, 18 backing Taft, and 32 undecided.

The Soviet Union, Eisenhower was quoted as saying, is deliberately fostering fear and anxiety.

But, he continued, if the Western nations can counteract the fear psychosis, sufficient progress would be made within two or three years to lift the burden of war.

The buildup, he said, would stop Communist infiltration as well.

He expressed doubt the Russians would start a war unless they were convinced of a quick victory.

They would have to wipe out the sources of resistance, he said, and then build machinery to withstand a long war of attrition.

The Russian leaders like their jobs, he added, and he said he thought they would not risk losing them unless, or until, they were confident of winning.

The United States, on the other hand, must begin finding the means of reducing the national budget, Eisenhower said.

The witness quoted him as saying he was not thinking of a reduction of 10 billion dollars but of 40 billion.

Otherwise, he said, the government is running a risk of throttling the country's economic life.

Eisenhower Sees End Of War Fear

New York (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported saying yesterday, that given certain conditions, there is a possibility of removing the fear of war within two or three years.

Eisenhower discussed the prospect with New York Republican delegates at a closed meeting yesterday.

One of those present said the general told the delegates that the buildup of economic and military strength in the free nations, plus a feeling of confidence in themselves, would create a condition in which peace could be preserved.

The Sun story said Fine wants to work out a meeting for himself, McKeldin and Arthur Summerfield, Republican national committeeman from Michigan.

O'Neill wrote that the meeting is "in prospect sometime next week after Gov. McKeldin returns from a speaking engagement Monday in Seattle, Wash."

The Sun story said McKeldin was approached on the matter "by an intermediary representing Gov. Fine."

House Votes To End HST's Rail Seizure Powers

Washington (AP) — The House yesterday voted to end President Truman's authority to seize the nation's railroads, but passed a bill extending 48 other emergency war powers vested in the White House.

The vote was 284 to 69. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Besides knocking out the President's rail seizure power, the House rejected President Truman's bid for renewal of 11 other powers. These included authority:

One—To provide absentee voting for members of the armed services in national elections.

Two—To recall to active duty without their consent young men, now in reserve status, who were drafted or enlisted in the armed services between June 24, 1948, and June 15, 1951.

Dense Woods Combed For Hitchhikers

Bear Creek — Two killers who murdered an Edwardsville woman and shot her husband here Tuesday night were still being sought by police in this region late last night.

The two, who fled into the woods after the slaying on an isolated road here, are the objects of one of the biggest manhunts in this region's history.

The victims: Mrs. Mary Roberts, 43, of 30 Church St., Edwardsville, who was killed with two bullets in the left side of the head; and her husband, Jonah, 46, a dress factory employee who is in fair condition at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital with a bullet wound of the left shoulder and multiple injuries of the face and body suffered in a beating by one of the hitchhikers.

Wyoming State police said they believe the hitchhike slayers have not left the area and may be in hiding somewhere in the dense woods.

Roadblocks were thrown up by State police in a wide area with Bear Creek as the central point. State police from the Mount Pocono and Brodheadville substations in Monroe County were included.

Monroe County troopers lifted their roadblocks yesterday but continued wide-ranging patrols.

Three suspects were picked up yesterday morning—one a hitchhiker encountered by Stroudsburg State police. Close questioning failed to establish any link with the killing and the suspects were released.

Wyoming police and Luzerne County detectives have run down scores of leads but so far have not hit pay dirt, they said.

Late last night the Wyoming barracks said no suspects were being held.

Main highways throughout northeastern Pennsylvania are under close scrutiny and all railroad and bus terminals were checked to determine if the slayers escaped from the area during the night.

Roberts has not been informed of his wife's death. Hospital authorities reported he called for her during the night, apparently under the impression that her wounds were no more critical than his own.

The two men being sought were described as about 25 years old, "collegiate looking," five feet eight inches tall, hatless, and with dark complexions. They carried nickel plated revolvers.

One wore a dark gray coat, light gray trousers, and carried a brown zippered bag. The other wore a gray suit.

One, police were told, had a "New York" accent.

The Roberts, married for more than 20 years, had gone driving Tuesday about 7 p.m., according to the story pieced together by detectives from Roberts' account.

After stopping for ice cream in Wyoming, they drove to Scranton, then started the return trip. In front of Laurel Line station they saw the two young hitchhikers, stopped and gave them a lift.

In Dupont, however, one hitchhiker pulled a gun, pushed Roberts into the middle of the front seat and took the wheel himself.

The other man remained in the back seat alone.

At this point Roberts' story is hazy. He told questioners that near Bear Creek the man in the back seat tried to force Mrs. Roberts to have unnatural relations with him.

The car was stopped on a lonely road off Route 115, and Roberts was hauled from the car. The back seat rider then attempted to force Mrs. Roberts to submit to him. When she refused she was shot twice in the head.

Meanwhile, authorities were told, Roberts was struggling to save his wife. After being brutally mauled he was shot in the shoulder. The bullet traveled a downward path and lodged somewhere near the intestines.

The hitchhikers then took Roberts' wallet and his wife's purse, threw the car keys in the bushes and vanished into the woods.

Roberts struggled back into the car where his wife—unknown to him—lay dead, got out a spare set of emergency keys and began the tortuous drive toward a hospital to get aid for his wife.

Weak from loss of blood, he collapsed on the way, managed to park the car, drag himself out on the road and signal for help from a passing motorist.

Ike To Meet With State GOP Delegates

Harrisburg (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine said yesterday he and other top Republicans would greet Dwight D. Eisenhower personally in advance of a meeting between the retired general and Pennsylvania's 70-man Republican delegation at Gettysburg Friday.

Arrangements are "progressing speedily" for the picnic and informal get-together at the Eisenhower farm on the outskirts of the historic Civil War battlefield, Fine said.

Fine said Eisenhower will be met at Harrisburg State Airport at 9:50 a.m. Friday by himself, Sen. James H. Duff, one of Ike's leading backers for the Republican nomination; Sen. Edward Martin, State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman and Edwin F. Russell, state chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower.

The governor spent much of the day with Russell, other Ike representatives and Col. C. M. Wilhelm, State police commissioner, in working out the physical arrangements for the reception.

Buses, with State police escort, will take Eisenhower and his party on the 36-mile trip to Gettysburg.

Under the arrangements, Eisenhower will talk with the delegates and alternates at his farm. He will leave from Harrisburg for Detroit at 9:30 p.m.

The governor's office issued this statement:

Delegates, alternates, and out-of-state press will meet at the Gettysburg Hotel in Gettysburg. Parking places have been provided.

"Buses will take delegates, alternates, and out-of-state press from the Gettysburg Hotel to the farm and after the meeting back to Gettysburg.

Delegates, alternates, the press, and special guests are required to identify themselves.

Survey Puts Emphasis On Mental Health

Washington (AP)—A study group sized up the American doctor yesterday and said he knows a lot about disease but too little about people and what makes them chronically ill.

The purpose of the study, by the American Psychiatric Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges, was to assess the importance of giving medical students more information on mental diseases.

The report said the mode of life is changing so rapidly in America it is placing more and more strain on people. Many people respond to strain by suffering a break in their health, the report added.

And so it suggested the education of doctors be widened to include more studies about people, how they live and the factors that bring them tension or unhappiness.

Mechanical pickers, planters and cultivators are more commonly used in Western states of the United States in the raising of cotton than is the case in the Southeast.

Senator Martin Lashes Out At Confusion, Corruption, Communism In Shawnee Speech

The second annual Republican June Day banquet last night drew 265 Republican men and women from Monroe and neighboring counties to Shawnee Inn to hear U. S. Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, and to see the coronation of David Gerrity and Kathleen Yost as the teen-age "Mr. and Miss Republican of 1952."

Sponsored by the Monroe Council of Republican Women, the guests were welcomed by Mrs. J. Russell Custard, president; with State Sen. M. F. Crowe as toastmaster. The invocation was given by Judge Fred W. Davis.

Senator Martin in his address lashed out at "confusion, corruption and Communism."

"One of the vital issues of the 1952 campaign," he said, "is the issue of honesty against dishonesty," citing the bribery of public officials, influence peddlers with free access to the White House, and the income tax scandals, and laying the responsibility on the Democratic administration.

"The failure of the President to take drastic action to drive the crooks out of public office, was one of the most disgraceful affairs in American history," he said.

More alarming than the issue of corruption, he continued, is "the extreme danger to which the American form of government is exposed by the constantly increasing concentration of power and authority in Washington," with the resulting "taxation which approaches the point of confiscation."

The Republican party in the 80th Congress proved that the budget can be balanced by adjusting expenditures to income for the first time in 17 years, he said, with the first tax reduction in 20 years.

Strong and united for victory in November, the Republicans can do even more he said, listing additional causes for which the Republican party is fighting for:

"A foreign policy that will build a barrier against Communism without trying to carry the whole world on our shoulders with no more secret agreements to betray free people into slavery behind the iron curtain;

"Leadership that will uphold our fundamental concept of government by law and not by men."

"It is a goal worth working for—worth fighting for—worth voting for," he concluded to tumultuous applause.

Mrs. Merle Taylor, national director of Liberty Belles, Inc., stressed the issue of constitutional government. The Liberty Belles, she explained, were founded in October, 1951 by Virginia Kellems, who fought the social security payroll deduction, and now had members in each of the 48 states.

The organization is non-partisan, she said, but is a means by which both Democrats and Republican women could support democracy and constitutional government. Pledged to support the Republican party, she said that the next election was a vital one, and was not "in the bag" but needed the support of Americans regardless of party lines.

John Russell Craig, candidate for congressman from Pennsylvania, also spoke on the issues and importance of the coming election. Fred Waring, as Shawnee Inn host, also spoke briefly.

The guests were introduced by Republican County Chairman B. K. Williams.

Mrs. Calkins, 94, Attends GOP Dinner

Mrs. Frederick Calkins of Barrett, 94, was given a rousing vote of tribute and presented with an orchid by Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe at the Republican June Day banquet last night.

Also introduced at the dinner, in addition to those pictured were Mrs. Sue C. Price, president of the Barrett Republican Women; Mrs. George Humphrey, president of the Mount Pocono Republican Women; and the presidents of the Lackawanna County Federation; the Liberty Council, Moscow, and the large delegations which accompanied them, as well as state officers.

Republican leaders not in the picture who were presented were District Attorney Elmer Christine; James Gould, prothonotary and Clerk of Courts; Ray Price Jr., state committeeman and president of the Young Republicans; and Charles N. Thompson, former county chairman.

Teen-Agers Crowned

(Picture on Page 10)

To Kathleen Yost and David L. Gerrity, both of East Stroudsburg, went the crowns of Mr. and Miss Republican of 1952 presented by the Monroe County Council of Republican Women to the two teen-age essayists who won the most votes in demonstration of practical politics.

Bill Altier, "Mr. Republican of 1951," crowned his successor, while Mrs. C. H. Litt, mother of the 1951 winner, crowned Miss Yost in the absence of Patty Little.

John S. Shotwell, state assemblyman, presented the cash awards to the winners of the essay contest: Bernette Roan, $25; James ID., $20; Patricia Burnley, $15; and Carol Ann Kresge, $10.

All of the teen-agers who entered the contest were guests at the banquet, at Shawnee Inn last night.

Owens Death Mystifies Authorities

An autopsy yesterday failed to establish the cause of death of Shirley Owens, 21, East Stroudsburg native who was found dead Tuesday at St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, where she was a student nurse.

Deputy Coroner Russell E. Morgan, a member of the hospital staff, said specimens taken at the autopsy were being sent to the State Police laboratory at Harrisburg for toxicological examination.

A report on the findings is expected shortly, Dr. Morgan said.

The case is being investigated by Bethlehem State police. The "routine" autopsy was ordered by Capt. Charles Cook, commander of the Bethlehem barracks, according to Dr. Morgan's assistant, who read a prepared statement.

The post mortem was performed by Dr. Thomas Cope at the hospital.

Pfc. Leonard Picton, investigator from the Bethlehem barracks, said authorities were satisfied no "foul play" was involved.

Miss Owens, a senior student nurse and daughter of Earl and the late Grace Dimmick Owens, 137 Maple Ave., East Stroudsburg, was found dead in bed in her room at 7 p.m.

A night duty nurse, she had gone to sleep about noon the same day, authorities said.

A classmate, Caroline E. Miller, of East Bangor, looked into the room about 5 p.m. but thought Miss Owens was asleep and went away without disturbing her, authorities said.

After Miss Owens failed to appear at supper, Nurse Miller went to the room and this time discovered the death.

Coroner Clayton Werley said death had occurred some hours before 7 p.m.

Miss Owens was a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School in 1949, had played in the band for four years. During two of those years the band won state championships.

After graduation she entered St. Luke's and won honors in her first year of training. At the time of her death she was editor of the hospital news, The Lukeite.

Miss Owens would have been capped June 28 after completion of three years' training—about two weeks from the time of her funeral.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg, with Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiating, and burial at Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Surviving are her father, step-mother, Mrs. Ruth Owens; paternal grandfather, Arthur C. Owens, East Stroudsburg; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dimmick, Shawnee; and step-sister, Mrs. Patricia Karpelena, Bethlehem.

Elwine and Brush have departed for Fort Meade to begin their basic training.

Hobbs, 23, Stroudsburg, RD2, who graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College two weeks ago, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force for a four year period, and has departed for Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. ### The Portland Fire Fund

The responsibility for providing adequate fire protection in any community rests with each and every citizen of that community. We have had some prime examples of this theory in Monroe County, but one of the best tests is now being conducted in the Portland region.

Not only Portland, Slatford and Mt. Bethel citizens are involved in fund raising to provide proper fire protection, but across the Delaware River their neighbors of Knowlton and Pahaquarry Townships are contributing.

As beneficiaries of the facilities of a modern $15,000 pumper engine in a region where little or no fire protection exists, depending in which portion of the territory one lives, no citizen can afford to miss making his or her most generous contribution.

A small group of men interested in protecting their own homes, as well as those of others, give their time, their skills and repeatedly risk life and limb, purely on a volunteer basis. These volunteer firemen deserve more than praise and good wishes. They must have adequate financial support to obtain the best possible fire fighting tools.

Borough of Portland has given $2,500 towards the pumper fund in addition to monies set aside by the fire company. Ladies of the fire company auxiliary had added another $1,000. Other gifts from citizens have swelled the pumper purchase monies close to $6,000.

The remaining $9,000 should be raised promptly. No individual whether a property owner or tenant, can afford to dilly with this type of community responsibility.

Delaware is known as the "Diamond state" and also as the "First state" because it was the first to ratify the federal constitution.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—One of the most cogent questions in the Republican party problem book today is whether Senator William Knowland of California could legally run as both a senatorial and a vice presidential candidate.

Knowland's smashing 1,675,000-vote majority in the California primary placed him at the top of the vice presidential list. There are other factors making Knowland acceptable as a running mate for either Taft or Eisenhower, but his vote-getting qualities in California have focused the hot eyes of GOP politicians squarely on him. Governor Earl Warren's stock was greatly ballooned in 1950 when he beat Jimmy Roosevelt for the governorship by a majority of 1,127,000.

California politicians say that state laws do not cover the legality of a candidate having his name on the ballot both for Congress and vice president. They point out that the only politician to do it in recent history, and get away with it, was former Democratic Vice President John Nance Garner, the late President Roosevelt's two-term running mate.

Garner was in the House of Representatives when he and Roosevelt first ran in 1932. No one apparently questioned the fact that Garner also was running for re-election to the House. But Texas, with its one-party system, is somewhat different from California. Knowland, however, captured both the Democratic and Republican senatorial nominations in California on June 3—something only one other Californian, the late Hiram Johnson, ever was able to do.

If California Republicans do need an interpretation of state laws in the event Knowland gets the GOP vice presidential nomination they are in trouble. The attorney general of California is a Democrat, Edmund (Pat) Brown. The decision would be in his hands.

Brown was the only Democrat elected to a major office in California in 1950. Since then his popularity has dwindled. He was thoroughly trounced last week as head of a slate of anti-Kellogg delegates to the Democratic convention in July. Brown blames some of his fading on the fact that he was, for party reasons, forced to align himself closely with President Truman. Since Korea the President has been persona non grata on the west coast.

The decision about Knowland's eligibility as a vice presidential candidate, nevertheless, remains in Brown's hands, and it would be a political miracle if he avoided an adverse decision, assuming there was a question of interpretation in a remote California law. It can be said with reasonable assurance that if such a law exists, Brown will find it.

A Knowland candidacy is appealing to Eisenhower Republicans. The general gained many west coast followers when, in his first press conference, he praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur and indicated that he would certainly find a place for MacArthur if elected to the presidency.

Knowland is a supporter of MacArthur. Knowland also, in a vigorous campaign for the senatorial nomination, attacked Truman's foreign policy, particularly as it pertains to the Far East.

Eisenhower admits that he knows little about Far Eastern affairs. Knowland knows a great deal, and the tag, "Senator From Formosa," hung on him by Left-Wing Democrats, may boomerang on his critics. The GOP, in the event of Eisenhower's nomination, will be happy to have a Far Eastern expert on the ticket.

In lesser degree, the same applies to Taft. He is, in general, let Knowland handle Asia in the Senate while he concentrated on Europe. He also is close to MacArthur.

Geographically a Knowland candidacy would be advisable. Both Taft and Eisenhower claim midwest birthplaces, although in the case of the general he is politically aligned with the east coast. A far western running mate would make good political sense for either of the two leading contenders.

Knowland is young (44), aggressive and smart. Warren, for practical political purposes, is through in his home state. He is eager for a spot on the Supreme Court bench or at least the attorney generalship. To get such a Federal post in event of a GOP victory in November, Warren may have to support Knowland for the job he, Warren, lost as Dewey's running mate in 1948.

Spreading Freedom

Americans believe their institutions are the best for themselves, and would be the best for others. But we have not been very successful in selling that idea to the rest of the world.

In the case of a free and impartial press, we sometimes forget that many foreigners cannot appreciate it simply because they never have seen one.

This week the first American daily newspaper, with an American editor, starts publishing in Beirut, to circulate in Lebanon and several other Middle Eastern countries. English is spoken widely among educated Middle Easterners and the publishers are aiming their paper primarily at them, and only secondarily to the Americans who live or work in the area.

Except for Northern Europe and a few other parts of the world, newspapers tend to be organs of political parties or other special interests and rarely print straight news as we know it.

Even in Latin America, the death of La Presna and other suppressions have widened the area of darkness and discouraged the nations which still have a free press.

Papers like the new "Daily Star" in Beirut probably never will have large circulations, but their success will encourage the development of free and impartial newspapers by the peoples of other countries, in their own languages. We wish them well.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The Foreign Atmosphere Whenever I come among foreigners, particularly such as represent their countries in the United States or at the United Nations, I cannot help wondering if they know anything at all about this country and the American people or whether they even care.

In the first place, most of them congregate in New York and Washington where they only read the comparatively small circulation newspapers that please them. They read the columnists who have a great reputation as friends of Europe but whose impression in America is limited to the international coterie. One would imagine that these foreign representatives would realize that as long as they are dependent upon our subsidies, they ought to know what Main Street thinks.

These people talk to each other a great deal, but they rarely talk to those Americans whose influence lopped a billion dollars and more off the foreign aid bill. When they believe, as they really do, that if we stopped subsidizing Europe and Asia, we should go into a deep depression, one can only remind them that that is what Stalin and Henry Wallace and even Harry Truman thought would happen in 1946 and it has not happened yet.

They explain this phenomenon—and they all talk alike—by saying that we stayed out of a depression by making the Korean War and by the Marshall Plan, ECA, and NATO. What knocks me over every time I get into one of these discussions is that these people honestly believe that we got into the Korean War to keep out of a depression and that the Europeans actually are doing us a great favor by letting us give them aid to defend their countries, as otherwise we should decay into a hopeless bankruptcy. The Marshall Plan, from their standpoint, was not American aid to Europe; it was European aid to America.

If you think that I am making all this up, get into an argument with these gentlemen or their ladies. It will not take you long to discover that nobody is grateful for what we have done, for $50,000,000,000 of Lend-Lease during World War II or about $30,000,000,000 since. We did all that to keep out of a depression and they took the money to help us stay out of depression and war.

I am a very mild-mannered person, but when I am told to my face, as often happens, that if we stop giving our money, the entire world will unite against us, I am tempted to say, unite and be damned, because there is something impudent and intolerable in the attitude of these people who accept our bounty without shame, yet hate us for it. And they seem to admit that there is an emotional response in Europe, against parvenus America that is so rich and powerful.

It is like an old relative who has seen better days and who must make a nuisance of herself to prove that what is done for her is her due and not the goodness of young hearts.

I was recently told that the backward nations are not responsible for their backwardness, but rather that they should be aided to become forward nations by American money dispensed by the United Nations.

When I asked why, if the United States pays for all this progress, should we not do the job ourselves, pasting an American label on it, they answer that that is not humane. It is colonialism. It should all be sheer charity, with no return intended or expected. Point Four is like that, but, according to beneficiaries, it ought to be done entirely by the United Nations so that nobody will have to be grateful to anybody.

When I listen to Park Avenue ladies talking gushingly that way, I do not feel much pain. They are a dying race among us. But when I hear the men who are reporting America back to European nations talk that way, I realize that there is trouble in store for us when we have to tell these foreigners that we can give them no more subsidies, that it is none of our business to keep their politicians in power and that we despise their Socialism of whatever form.

It would do these people good if they traveled in this country and listened to what most Americans think of them and their gimmicks.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Somebody asked Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, onetime pitching star of the Yankees, and a natural wit, what he thought Ty Cobb would be against the kind of flinging prevalent in the major leagues today. "Lefty" (also known as "El Goofer") pondered momentarily, then hazarded, "I'd say about 320." "That low?" asked the interrogator in surprise. "Yep," grinned Gomez. "Ya gotta remember Cobb's now over sixty years old!"

Gomez claims the distinction of having had the longest home run in big league ball cracked off one of his deliveries. The man who smote the blow—over 450 yards on the fly—was Jimmy Fox, and Gomez adds proudly, "I whizzed my first one half past him at that. It was the last half that did the damage."

The cannibal chief yawned widely and patted his expansive belly in a bored manner. "Some days," he complained to his medicine man, "I get so fed up with people."

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Gene Barry has one word for an actor's first year in movies. The word is: "Awful!"

"You're a hidden nonentity," he explained the other day while awaiting public reaction to his first film "The Atomic City." "Your agent is familiar with you; so's your family. But so far as the public's concerned, nothing happens."

Paramount took quite a chance on this tall, ruggedly handsome emigre from Broadway. He drove out here on vacation last summer with his wife and young son. His agent arranged screen tests, which led to offers from several studios. He took Paramount's, with its lead in "The Atomic City." He plays a nuclear physicist at the Los Alamos A-bomb laboratories. Critics have praised the film warmly.

The studio's gamble lay in the fact that Barry is a movie unknown. So are the picture's other principals—Lydia Clarke (actor Charlton Heston's wife), a Broadway actress here appearing in her first film, and 8-year-old Lee Aaker, from TV and a few other movie roles. All perform excellently in this kidnap thriller. And Barry comes off so well that Paramount promptly gave him another lead role—again, coincidentally, as a scientist—in "War of the Worlds."

Barry is tall, dark, and 32, with strong features. His easygoing seriousness is suggestive of Wendell Corey.

Getting into pictures, Gene said is "something I've wanted since I was old enough to be taken to

Well I just got your phone bill. I knew it cost more to use the telephone than it used to, and any phone bill always startles me, but this fourteen-million-dollar one strikes me as extra stiff. Did I exceed the three-minute period on a couple of toll-line calls from a pay station or something? I wish you would check and send me a complete list of calls and also be sure you have not got my phone bill mixed up with the lady next door.

Your action, Joe, knocks in the head your claim you want peace. Nobody who wants peace sends another guy a fourteen-million-dollar telephone bill. I have known terrible fights to break out over phone bills that were nowhere near that big. A phone bill of that size could start a war, and all the sympathy would be on the side that got it. From the very start you would have even the satellites saying, "Let's throw Joe overboard. He's the fellow who talks about brotherly love and sends out phone bills that knock your eye out."

As if the bill wasn't enough you send out a pretty nasty letter saying it is long overdue, and that you will cut the service if payment isn't made by return mail. I once knew a very peace-

my first movie." It was "The Ten Commandments."

Eventually he became a nightclub singer and a stock-company actor. He played the bat in "Rosalinda," an adaptation of "Die Fledermaus," whose cast also included Shelley Winters. In "Catherine Was Great" he had a leading role opposite Mae West. There were shorter-lived roles—and, in the last three years, some 70 TV parts.

To crack the movies, Barry has found, "you need guts. You're selling a very intangible thing—your belief in yourself." Then, while awaiting the public's and the critics' reaction, you need patience.

For even Barry's six-year-old son Michael knows Gene is no movie star yet. Mike describes his dad to pals as a stunt man because "it's more daring."

You have been badly advised in this matter, Joe. Yes, the note came from the East German Government but everybody knows you run that end of the line. The fellow who told you to send it should be purged as he has driven every telephone subscriber on earth over to my side in a body. And, on the level, wouldn't Russia look awful in a headline that screamed "MOSCOW GOES TO WAR TO COLLECT PHONE BILL." Think it over.

Tractor-Trailer Sideswipes Pole, Plunges Over Bank

A Carbon County truck driver escaped serious injury early yesterday morning when his tractor-trailer swerved off Route 611 about three miles south of Stroudsburg, sideswiped a utility pole and plunged down an embankment where it overturned.

Herman Haydt, 34, of Parryville, climbed from the cab of the truck owned by Clinton Strohl, Lehigh RD 3, and told area residents and police he was not injured. Contents of the truck, several tons of culm, were strewn over the area and the truck rested on its right side about 50 feet from the home of Bennett Strait.

According to Haydt he was driving in the middle lane toward Delaware Water Gap about 4:30 a.m. when the mishap occurred. He said a road block set up by construction crews who are repairing the section of Route 611 suddenly loomed in front of him and he turned right to avoid a crash. Haydt claimed the metal drum which protects a section of the turn-up highway contained no flare and was not visible until he was almost at the spot.

After swerving, the truck clipped the service pole in freak fashion so that the impact resounded through the wood until it reached the peak where the wavering cracked off the upper portion of the pole. Wires ripped from their moorings were repaired by utility crewmen.

Two Couples Seek Licenses

Two couples applied for marriage licenses at the courthouse yesterday. They were Bernard C. Gunsauls, East Stroudsburg RD, and Jane Marion Serfass, Stroudsburg; and Paul E. Kuehner, Kunkletown RD2, and Dolores I. Feller, Kresgeville.

George Mosier, Daulton Serfass, Joseph Jacques and William Wool-ever. Paul bearers were Earl Palmer, Rudolph Blitz, Robert Gaunt and John Darr. Interment was made in Cherry Lane Cemetery.

Police Take Specimens To Harrisburg

Pfc. Ed. Beneski yesterday delivered specimens from autopsies on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sielski to the State Police laboratory in Harrisburg.

The specimens will be submitted to toxicological tests to check on the possibility that the Jersey City couple were victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Beneski, an investigator from the Stroudsburg substation, also delivered a bottle containing an unidentified fluid. The bottle was found in the wash basin in the bathroom of the cottage at 719 Rosemont Ave., Arlington Heights. The fluid will also be analyzed, said Sgt. Morgan B. Davis, commander of the Stroudsburg station.

Beneski returned late yesterday afternoon. Sgt. Davis has said it may be a week before the findings are reported.

Police conducted no further check of the cottage or grounds yesterday, Sgt. Davis said.

Sgt. Davis has already reported that authorities are satisfied no foul play was involved. So far police have not reported finding any evidence supporting a theory of suicide.

The Sielskis, both 29, arrived in their car from Jersey City last Thursday. They planned a week-long vacation in the rented cottage owned by Clarence A. Hassinger, operator of the Beaver House.

Several hours after eating dinner Thursday night, they died, the autopsy findings disclosed Tuesday. The bodies were found in the cottage Sunday.

Tuesday afternoon police and city gas experts went over the cottage and grounds to check for any signs of carbon monoxide leakage. They found none, Sgt. Davis said.

Services for the Sielskis were held yesterday morning in a Jersey City Catholic church. Burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery in North Arlington, a Jersey City suburb.

The funeral took place about 13 months after the childhood sweethearts were married. They had no children.

97-Year-Old Man Admits To Good, Long Life But Modestly Recalls His Neighbor Is Older

By James B. Gaffney

"There's a man just down the street who is about a year and a half older than me. So I guess you really couldn't say I was the oldest man around these parts."

This statement from Frank Bessecker on his 97th birthday anniversary yesterday reflects the modest opinion of a likable gentleman whose thoughts at the moment were of his neighbor, "only a stone's throw away," Peter Sharp who marked his 98th year Feb. 14.

Mr. Bessecker resides with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Smith at 119 King St., East Stroudsburg, in a home the near-centennial built in 1887. His elder, Mr. Sharp, lives with his son, Oscar, at 443 Williams St., "just down the street."

Born in Price Township on a small home along Brodheads Creek, Mr. Bessecker recalled he was raised near Cresco in Barrett Township and moved to East Stroudsburg about 64 years ago.

"I just finished building my house when the big blizzard started," the congenial six-foot gent said. "Jennie was our only child and I'm the last one of my family." He continued.

Mr. Bessecker recalled his early years, noting "I've worked hard all my life. When I first came here I worked for a tannery and then went to East Stroudsburg Lumber Co. Guess I worked there about 25 or 30 years," he added.

"My memory isn't so good anymore," Mr. Bessecker explained. "I can't read the papers or magazines anymore and very seldom listen to the radio because my hearing isn't too good. But I really like company." He expressed great pleasure in the visit

Tuesday "of some of my relatives. They're real good to me. Bring me candy and I do like their company."

Except for four years when, as a young man, he went to the western part of Pennsylvania to live, Mr. Bessecker has spent his entire life in this section.

While the past events are practically forgotten now the 97-year-old expressed pride in maintaining his fortitude and is still able to maneuver around the home. "It's been about two or three years since I've been outside the house," he added. "It doesn't make much difference though, long as I have company and can pass the time of day with someone to talk to."

As the 97th date of his birth passed quietly, Mr. Bessecker commented softly, "I've had a good long life. I've worked hard all my life."

Vassar Bag Co. Stresses Quality In Merchandise

The thirty-fifth of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here; how it is made; the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James B. Gaffney

An interesting operation productively and a major manufacturer economically where the Stroudsburgs are concerned, is that work being completed daily by Vassar Import Bag Co., Inc., located on First St. in Stroudsburg.

Sharing in the outlay of about $470,000 in salaries last year were 130 employees who work as a team at this plant where some of the finest women's purses are produced.

Robert M. Sommers, president of the corporation came here 21 years ago from New York City where he founded the concern in 1917.

Arriving in Stroudsburg with six foremen, Sommers immediately began employing local people and his operations grew constantly until at present his product and the work of his employees have gained national prominence.

Three of the original foremen still are the key workers at the plant: Henry Reader, Harry Lewenstein and Harry Oloff.

With ample room for production and storage—26,000 square feet of floor space—Vassar Bag is recognized for its quality merchandise. As Sommers explains, "You have to turn out good work today or the public won't buy your merchandise."

Purses are made from a manifold list of alligator and reptile skins which are imported from Asia, India, Africa, South America and other foreign lands. Also in heavy production are bags made of cashmere, broadcloth, faille, calfskin and numerous other materials ordered specifically for the desired purpose.

Vassar's over-all retail selling list contains about 200 various styles and colors, and each type purse also varies in price, from a $5 bag to the $40 alligator skin purse.

After the material arrives here from the metropolitan area it is stored in a large stockroom and categorized into compartments where the employees draw their first operation.

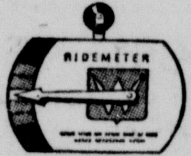

Sommers himself designs all the bags manufactured and the company makes its own patterns. From these patterns the leather or fabric is cut to specified lengths and designs. Then begins a long list of operations, with each department responsible for the completion of either glueing, sewing, piecing or finishing. The final operation is inspection, where each purse undergoes a rigid examination before passed to the customer.

Leather is both machine and hand-cut, depending on the size needed for the several pieces that are joined later to complete the bag. Inner-linings comprise one of the initial operations and the strips of leather used in the bag are "thinned" by use of a machine with a revolving blade which trims the skin to the thickness desired.

One of the latest machines employed in production resembles a vacuum cleaner and electric razor combined. Prior to the introduction (Continued on page fourteen)

PUSHING ACROSS mountains, rivers and deserts, 2,500 men and $15 million worth of machinery are laying a modern highway north along the Chilean coast as another link in the Pan-American highway. Advance crews have cleared a 130-foot right-of-way which provides for a 24-foot-wide, two-strip concrete and asphalt road and allows for third strip. Twelve bridges will carry the road over rivers and curves are designed to permit a steady flow of traffic at speeds of 60 miles an hour. When the road is finished, motorists will be able to drive over a hard-surface road from Arica, Peru, to Puerto Montt, Chile, a distance of 2,112 miles, almost half the total length of the South American highway. And, the new road will open large areas to agricultural development and give access to a scenic seacoast.

Fresh Air Group Sets Deadline

Deadline for filing invitations for Fresh Air Children by regional residents has been fixed at July 3, Mrs. John R. Wilson chairman of the Pocono Mountains Fresh Air Committee said yesterday.

The chairman said total invitations are now approaching 40 with a good chance that last year's invitation list of 66 children will be exceeded.

All of the children are selected by the New York Herald Tribune Fresh Air fund organization with the aid of top New York City social and welfare agencies.

Each child, after careful screening by experts, is given a thorough physical examination.

The Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund pays all transportation fees and provides insurance coverage for each youngster.

Invitation period is for approximately two weeks. All of the children are of the underprivileged type, most of whom have never been out of the city to see anything resembling this type of country.

Many of those who are inviting children this year are residents who have so enjoyed having them in previous years, they want them back for another summer vacation period.

Moral Delinquency

Why must we have to wait for a Sunday to join a church—why can't we join and be baptized any day?

This is too important a matter to be relegated to one day a week. Joining a church is a personal matter between the person and God, it does not have to be made into a public show. Many people are self-conscious about doing things in public and do not join.

There is too much indifference by our ministers toward these people.

Long Stay In Hospital Ends For Resident Of Australia

Harold Gross, of Sydney, Australia, will leave the General Hospital in East Stroudsburg this morning on the first leg of a return trip by plane, via Hawaii.

He will be accompanied by a special duty registered nurse, Mrs. George L. Smith, of East Stroudsburg RD1, who will take care of Gross during part of the trip.

Mrs. Smith, wife of the county's chief assessor, has been assigned as day nurse to Gross during his stay in the hospital the past 19 weeks.

Her services were requested by Johnson and Johnson, the pharmaceutical firm for which Gross manages a subsidiary, Ortho Pharmaceutical Ltd., in Sydney.

Gross and Mrs. Smith will fly from LaGuardia Field in New York at 1 p.m. today. If a passport can be arranged on short notice, Mrs. Smith will continue on with her patient from San Francisco to Honolulu, where

Mrs. Gross will meet her husband. If not, Mrs. Smith will end her portion of the trip in California. Gross came to the Poconos to attend a meeting called by the parent company at Skytop, and while here suffered a serious rupture and a number of other ailments requiring surgery. He has been under the care of Dr. Claus Jordan at the General Hospital. After his return to Sydney, Gross is expected to undergo further surgery.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Bet you could have heard the banging down all over town yesterday morning as the cool breezes swept through the houses, and people rose shivering. However, most people were so busy that they hadn't time to shiver, practically.

Had a hard time keeping my eyes on my wedding with all the cars gliding by bearing the women to the card party yesterday afternoon at Shawnee. Good as a fashion show it was, and they certainly were be-furred and be-flowered.

And bewildered was the young robin on the cedar tree by the house. He certainly picked a windy day to try his wings. He was practically blown into the cedar, and once safely on a branch hung there for dear life.

You know how cedars bend and sway—well he'd hang on and bend forward against the gale, and then practically be switched off when the tree snapped back.

His mother sat on the spruce with a worm in her beak trying to coax him over, but he only closed his eyes, opened his mouth, and hung on tighter.

Sort of frustrating to have to leave right in the middle of the little drama, so I'll never know how it turned out. Anyway he's gone now, and I might have picked up some pointers about how to manage my own young — bound and determined to try their own wings this summer, it seems.

Listen To — Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:05 a.m.

16th Birthday

Bernard Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Fish, of 63 Lenox Ave., East Stroudsburg, is celebrating his 16th birthday today. He is a junior at East Stroudsburg High School.

There are plenty of kind hearts at Wyckoff's. But the cornets also made their appearance Saturday, worn by the finest of our customers, including the Welch twins of North Sixth Street.

Watched over by their big brother, they stopped to admire the toy display where they attracted smiling attention with the white bands around their head, red-lettered "Daily Vacation Bible School" . . . Mr. Kerlin, feeling that many persons who have bought yarn elsewhere may feel a bit reluctant to come into Wyckoff's and ask assistance from Mary Hoiser, has announced that our store knitting instructress will gladly advise everyone. Lessons are free to those buying their yarn here, and to others there will be a small charge. I notice that Mary had a busy afternoon yesterday. She's here, you know, each Tuesday through Friday from 2 to 4:30 . . . It doesn't seem possible, but on Tuesday I saw Mr. Ernest Wyckoff and our gift department's Marion Leedom, looking over a salesman's sample of Christmas decorations. Just between us, I could do with a few icicles right now! . . . Ham was eight cents a pound in 1848. Why I mention it, I haven't any idea since it won't add one iota to anyone's happiness, will it? . . . Stopping by the fabrics department to place a mail order with Hattie Walters, I began dreaming how nice it would be to have dresses made of all the prettiest fabrics—that sheer voile, for instance, in my favorite shade of coral; also gray, green, navy or black, which sells at $1.19. Or the dotted swiss, by Stoffel, with the tiny pinpoints of white on colorful backgrounds, at the same price. The printed voile at $1.25 is beautiful too, and looks like silk when worn over a shimmer-satin slip. And for 65c there is 39 inch batiste in a pretty paisley design. A woman who takes the time can be SEW-SEW pretty these summer days! . . . Amy Ellenberger has more notions in her head than are offered in her entire department—and one of them that makes particular sense, has to do with storing winter clothing during these weeks of summer. "College students who are home on vacation will be particularly interested in these, I believe," says Amy as she displays an entire new line of plastic storage, clothing and shoe bags, of virgin vinyl plastic. There are bags to hold 8 garments at $3.59 or 16 garments at $4.25. Shoe bags holding up to six pairs are $2.99. Suit bags, 42 inches long, sell for $3.39, and a bag with five shelves is $5.99. Utility boxes, plastic covered, are priced at $9.95. Better to be safe than sorry! . . . Can't forget that ham! Ham, Ham On the Range."

HAND IT TO DAD ON JUNE 15th!

Elected Committee Women To Help Choose Democratic Officers For First Time

Mellhaney—The Monroe County Democratic Committee will be geared for the November election wars in Chestnut Hill Inn here Tuesday night, June 17 with women of the party sitting in for the first time on an organization meeting.

John Brislin, Democratic county chairman, said last night that delegates to the national convention in Chicago in July and candidates have been invited to participate.

Women enter the organization meeting and have a voice in election of party officers for the first time because party by-laws were amended to allow election of committee women. They were elected at the April 11 meeting.

Heretofore, the committee women were appointed by committee men who were elected by party voters—both women and men.

Brislin said that a party secretary and a party treasurer will be elected by the committeemen and women.

The important executive committee personnel will also be completed by the election of required number of members, the county chairman announced.

Advisory committees dealing with various phases of party activity, especially in the line of campaigns, are to be appointed, Mr. Brislin said.

This type of operating committee is something new in Democratic party affairs here. Party officials believe they will be of definite value not only in elections but in year-round party service projects in Monroe County.

Harold C. Edwards, Stroudsburg attorney and Everett Kent, Bangor, attorney, both delegates from the 15th Congressional District consisting of Monroe, Carbon and Northampton counties have been invited.

Van D. Yetter, Marshalls Creek businessman and nominee for representative in General Assembly, is expected to be present.

"Attendance by every man and woman on the county committee will be essential," Brislin said, "because each should exercise his or her vote during the election of officers and be prepared to contribute to the overall discussions."

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Jimmy Werkheiser, former shortstop with Pocono A. C., and second baseman with East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, apparently arrived in Union City, Tenn., in time to get caught in one of the wildest brawls in the history of the Union City ball park, where some of the best Killy League games have been played down through the years, so this column has been informed. With Manager Frank Radler at bat, as a pinch hitter, Werkheiser attempted to score from third base on a passed ball.

However, the umpire called the flying former Pocono High star out, despite the fact that everyone else in the park saw the play easily the other way. Union City needed the run badly and to make matters worse, the same umpire ruled in favor of Jackson in a similar situation only an inning or two previously. The Union City team, led by Radler, charged the umpire and before order could be restored, the crowd also gave the men-in-blue a good going over. The result was that the umpires needed a police escort out of town.

Jim is now holding down third base regularly for Union City, after playing left and right field and shortstop at a recent date had a six-game batting streak going. Werkheiser is hitting around .276 at the present time, after getting off to a slow start, as he was used almost entirely in a pinch-hitting role during his first week with the club. Lloyd "Sonny" Woodling, former pitcher with ESSTC and Redders, the latter of the Pocono Mountains League, appeared in his first game the other day and during two innings of work retired two batters on strikes and walked only one.

Woodling entered the contest in a tough spot, coming to the mound with the bases loaded and no outs. The Redders resident walked the first batter but fanned the next one, limiting the opposition to one run. Woodling, like Werkheiser, is a former Pocono High School athletic star. Radler's club is currently in seventh place and not sixth as reported yesterday.

Bill Wilson, a left-handed pitcher who formerly played with John Schoonover at Easton, of the East-Penn League, stopped off in Stroudsburg on Tuesday to pitch batting practice for Pocono A. C. at Gordon Griffiths field. Wilson, 22 years old, was enroute to Hagerstown, Md., where he will play in the Inter-State League. The southpaw hurler recently signed a Boston Braves' contract.

John Drew, hard hitting catcher for Pocono A. C., became the father of a baby girl early yesterday morning. It is the second child for the Drews, the first being a boy. Bill Dwyer, a member of the Stroudsburg police force, taking his turn on the Glen Brook fairways yesterday and doing a good job with his long woods. Spence Walker, ace right-handed pitcher for the Tophanna entry in the Pocono Mountain Association, has an average of 13 strikeouts a game thus far this season.

Speaking of the Pocono Mountain Association brings to mind the fact that Sunday, June 22, which originally was scheduled as an open date, will now be used to make up games that were rained out on Sunday, May 25. The games which were washed off the books in the same league on Sunday, June 1, will be played on Friday, July 4, unless that date is used for an all star game between the outstanding players of the Pocono Mountain Association and the Wayne County League. If the all-star contest becomes a reality, it will be held at Gouldsboro.

Yesterday's Northampton County American Legion League contest between East Stroudsburg and Bangor, at Bangor's Memorial Park, was postponed until Monday, due to commencement exercises at Bangor High. The East Stroudsburg club travels to Pen Argyl tomorrow for another league clash. Pen Argyl recently hung a 13-2 licking on Wilson Borough, the same club that even more recently, last Saturday, was to exact, won over East Stroudsburg, 4-2, in 10 innings. Sal DeFide, one of the true Roseto, Blue Mountain League fans, is now employed at Vacation Valley for the Summer. Sal graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College last month.

Bill Bennett is scheduled to drive Bernie Clemens' stock car at Pittston's Bone Stadium tomorrow. It was learned yesterday. Clemens runs a service station in East Stroudsburg and Bennett is a resident of Scranton. The Pocono Mountains League baseball meeting at Bartonville Hotel on Monday is expected to be an interesting affair and every team is urged to have a representative on hand. According to reports reaching this typewriter the business to be discussed is of a legal nature, and deals with at least two clubs.

Peoples Coal Takes Measure Of Penn-Stroud Hotel, 2-1

Peoples Coal won its first start in the Stroudsburg Little League yesterday, with a 2-1 decision over the Penn-Stroud Hotel, at the newly constructed Little League park at the Stroudsburg Playground.

The winning club was guilty of three errors and they were officially the only misplays in the contest, as all the scoring was confined to the first inning.

Peoples Coal picked up two markers in the top half of the initial frame and the Penn-Stroud contingent, which lost its initial contest the day before, came through with its only run in the bottom half of the same inning.

Today's schedule calls for the National Bank to face Security Trust, with the game listed for 6:30 p. m.

Portland Blanks West Bangor, 9-0 Standings

Apollos Land Tenth Straight League Victory

Portland — Portland's power-packed Apollos ran their victory streak to 10 straight games in the Blue Mountain League yesterday, with a convincing 9-0 decision over West Bangor, here on the winning contingent's home grounds.

Portland hasn't suffered a setback against league competition this season thus far.

Bill Greenamoyer, veteran southpaw, worked the distance on the hill for the Apollos, scattering three hits over the seven-inning route, while his mates pounded out nine safeties.

Portland opened the scoring before a small home crowd with one run in the first and then came back to take a safe 3-0 advantage with two tallies in the bottom half of the third round.

Big Inning

However, Portland really put the game in the freezing compartment with six big markers in the home half of the sixth stanza.

Not one of the West Bangor batters was able to account for more than one hit off the veteran Greenamoyer, while Bob Trippanera and George Jackson led the Portland offense by combining for five of the nine hits blasted out by the Apollos.

Yesterday's victory enabled the Apollos to strengthen their hold on the top spot in the standings, a position they have at least shared from the opening day of the season.

LaMotta Rallies To Decision Murphy

Detroit, (AP)—Jolting Jake LaMotta barged past Irish Bob Murphy's left hooks in a savage ninth and tenth round comeback assault to win a 10-round unanimous decision last night before a near sellout crowd of some 16,000 fans.

LaMotta weighed 169 1/2 and Murphy 175 1/2.

Rarely has Jake scored a more dramatic victory in Detroit, his "Lucky City." For eight rounds he had vainly tried to solve Murphy's puzzling southpaw style. When he finally did, Murphy was staggering and almost off his feet. But the crowd was on its toes roaring.

Jake, hoping now to get a crack at the light heavyweight title, backed Murphy into Jake's own corner late in the ninth round and exploded two lefts against the ex-sailor's jaw. Murphy rocked backwards.

Again in the tenth, Jake jolting

Murphy, who stopped Jake in seven rounds a year ago.

This is how the officials scored the nationally televised and broadcast battle, one of the most rousing this city has seen:

Referee Lou Handler and Judge Andrew Brown each gave LaMotta a 51-49 edge; Judge Johnny Weber had it 55 to 45 for Jake.

The AP score card gave LaMotta, in the fifth fight of his comeback, a 52-48 edge.

Murphy's swinging left hooks and uppercuts kept Jake backing up and wary early in the fight. Jake, strictly a left handed puncher, wasn't able to counter effectively against the barrage.

Finally in the ninth Jake swarmed past Murphy and that ended Irish Bob's hopes of getting an immediate crack at the light heavyweight crown.

STOCKTOWN TRIUMPHS OVER JOHNSONVILLE

Stockertown — Stockertown won its second game in as many days over Johnsonville, here on the same field, by a 6-1 count yesterday. It was the third straight favorable decision for Stockertown, which is currently climbing toward the first division.

The home club broke the scoring famine with three runs in the third, one in the fourth and two in the sixth, although held to four hits by Dick Shuster, youthful Stroudsburg High right hander.

However, five free tickets to first base given up by the likeable chucker figured prominently in the scoring.

Snead, Hogan Mangrum Top Open List

By Will Grimsley

Dallas (AP)—The scoreboard listed 162 contenders but the locker rooms buzzed with only three names—Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum yesterday on the eve of the 52nd National Open Golf Championship.

These leather-tough old campaigners—Snead is 40, Hogan 39 and Mangrum 37—are prime favorites in the 72-hole, three-day test beginning this morning over the young but sassy Northwood course.

Sticky heat, the law of averages and an old bugaboo were factors which might tend to favor a stout, young contender, but these were given only scant consideration in the pre-tournament prognostications.

Averages

The law of averages should figure to work against the bantam Hogan, who has won this title three of the last four years and in his last three appearances. He was fighting for his life in 1949 because of an automobile accident.

Only two other men have won four open championships—Willie Anderson back at the turn of the century and Bobby Jones between 1923 and 1930—but neither could do it in successive tries.

The jinx rears its head in the case of Snead, the sport's Symphonic of Swing who blew the title with a horrendous eight at Spring Mill in 1939, dubbed a 30-inch putt on the final hole of a playoff in 1947 and lost by a stroke in 1949 when he misjudged a club.

Now they're saying Sam is a snake-bit man who will never win the Open but the West Virginia capitalist turned author just this week in a national magazine to predict "I Can Still Win the Open."

Sam realizes perhaps better than anyone that time is running out. The oldest man ever to capture this coveted prize was Britain's colorful Ted Ray in 1920 at Iverness.

Nevertheless, only one man appears to be as hot with the sticks right now as the pride of the Virginias. That is Mangrum, a suave, steel-eyed little Texan who looks like the Hollywood version of a Mississippi River steam boat gambler.

Mangrum, who once sold newspapers on the corners here, has won three of his last six tournaments, finished second in one and third in the other two. He is a cold, calculating shotmaker, winner of the open in 1946 when he was just out of the service.

In seven practice tours at Northwood, Hogan has never been better than 71.

Sauer Blasts Three Homers Off Simmons To Give Cubs Favorable Decision Over Phillies

Chicago, (AP)—Big "Hank" Sauer for the second time in his career joined lefty Curt Simmons for three homers in a single game to single-handedly give the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 win over the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday.

The rampaging Sauer thus boosted his National League leadership in homers to 18 and in RBI's to 58.

Sauer smashed three homers off Simmons previously on August 28, 1950, also at Wrigley Field.

It was the first time a major league batter ever blasted three homers off the same pitcher in two different games.

Each of his circuit clouts yesterday were lead-off blows. In the third inning he popped out at second base.

Boone Turk Lown needed a Philly base-running boner with the bases loaded in the sixth and last inning help from ancient "Dutch" Leonard to win.

Two walks and a single loaded the sacks for Philadelphia in the sixth, but when Richy Ashburn dropped a single in center, Tom Brown sped from first to third without touching second and was called out when the Cubs noticed the omission.

The Phillies continued to feud with umpire Al Barlick as the game continued into the next inning over the call. Finally Barlick banished both Willie Jones, the Phila' ailing third baseman with a bruised thumb, and Robin Roberts, the ace Philadelphia pitcher.

Taft Seeking To Shake Ike's Grip On N.J.

By The Associated Press
Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio goes on a political raid today in an attempt to shake Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's grip on New Jersey delegates to the Republican National Convention.

The two top contenders for the GOP presidential nomination have separate conferences on tap in New York City with the 38-vote Jersey delegation that now is largely for Eisenhower.

In the Democratic race, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee invades North Carolina, Mutual Security Administrator W. Averell Harriman explores the West, and Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia tunes up in Washington for a get-acquainted Western swing, starting Saturday, that will cover 14 or 15 states in 15 days.

The emphasis all the way around is on attempts to snatch delegates from rival candidates, line up those still on the fence and hold on to those already pledged. For, with the national political conventions only weeks away and most of the delegates picked, nobody is dead sure of enough votes to walk off with a nomination.

What The Associated Press count of delegates shows is this: With 1,193 of the 1,206 Republican delegates chosen, Taft is leading Eisenhower 464 to 391. There are 130 votes split among the rest of the field and 208 in dispute or uncommitted.

Since it takes 604 votes to get the nomination, Taft could go over the top by gathering in about two-thirds of the disputed and unattached delegates and Eisenhower would need all of them and a few more, too.

Democrats have picked 1,058 of their 1,230 delegates and Kefauver is well ahead of everybody else with 246 votes. Russell has 86½, Harriman 35½, various others 246, and 394 are not yet tied to anybody. It takes 616 for the nomination.

What the delegate tallies add up to is that the presidential hopefuls of both parties, in order to clinch victory, must court delegates now attached to other candidates and those who are contested or in dispute.

That is what is going on today in New York and North Carolina. Taft claims nine of the 38 New Jersey votes and wants more. The A. P. tabulations show six votes committed to the Ohio senator, one to former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and the other 31 to Eisenhower. The general also would like to improve his ratio, or at least hold his own.

All the New Jersey delegates are seeing both candidates. In North Carolina, 19½ of the 32 convention votes have been promised to Russell. Harriman has one, Kefauver none. A half vote apiece has been pledged to Vice President Barkley and Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, while 10½ are uncommitted.

So Kefauver is in Russell territory today, on a fast four-city tour that gives him a chance to show his political wares to delegates in personal conversations and speeches.

Some of the Eisenhower rosters still were boiling yesterday at the choice of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, by a Taft-controlled Arrangements Committee, to make the keynote speech at the GOP convention that starts in Chicago July 7.

But, Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, a staunch Eisenhower backer, said at Trenton that he approves the choice of MacArthur.

While MacArthur has come out openly for Taft, Driscoll said the former Far Eastern commander

Bishop Oxnam Sees Attack Leading To Church Advance

Harrisburg, (AP)—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, functional head of the Methodist Church's New York area told the Northeastern Methodist Jurisdiction Conference last night that the world-wide attack upon the church today holds promise of a world-wide church advance tomorrow.

Bishop Oxnam, who is also president of the world council of churches, said, "the church has made its greatest advances in periods immediately following brutal attacks."

The church leader's address was heard by some 300 delegates and several hundred visitors attending the once-a-year four-year conference. Sessions opened yesterday and will continue until Sunday.

A major action of the conference will be election of a new bishop to replace Dr. Charles Wesley Flint, bishop of the Washington, D.C., area who has announced his retirement.

In a welcoming address, Gov. John S. Fine said people would not have to worry about wars any more if "the world would go to church."

The company will pay the 214 workers for each birthday as a seventh paid holiday, President E. J. Seifert said. He said the three-
